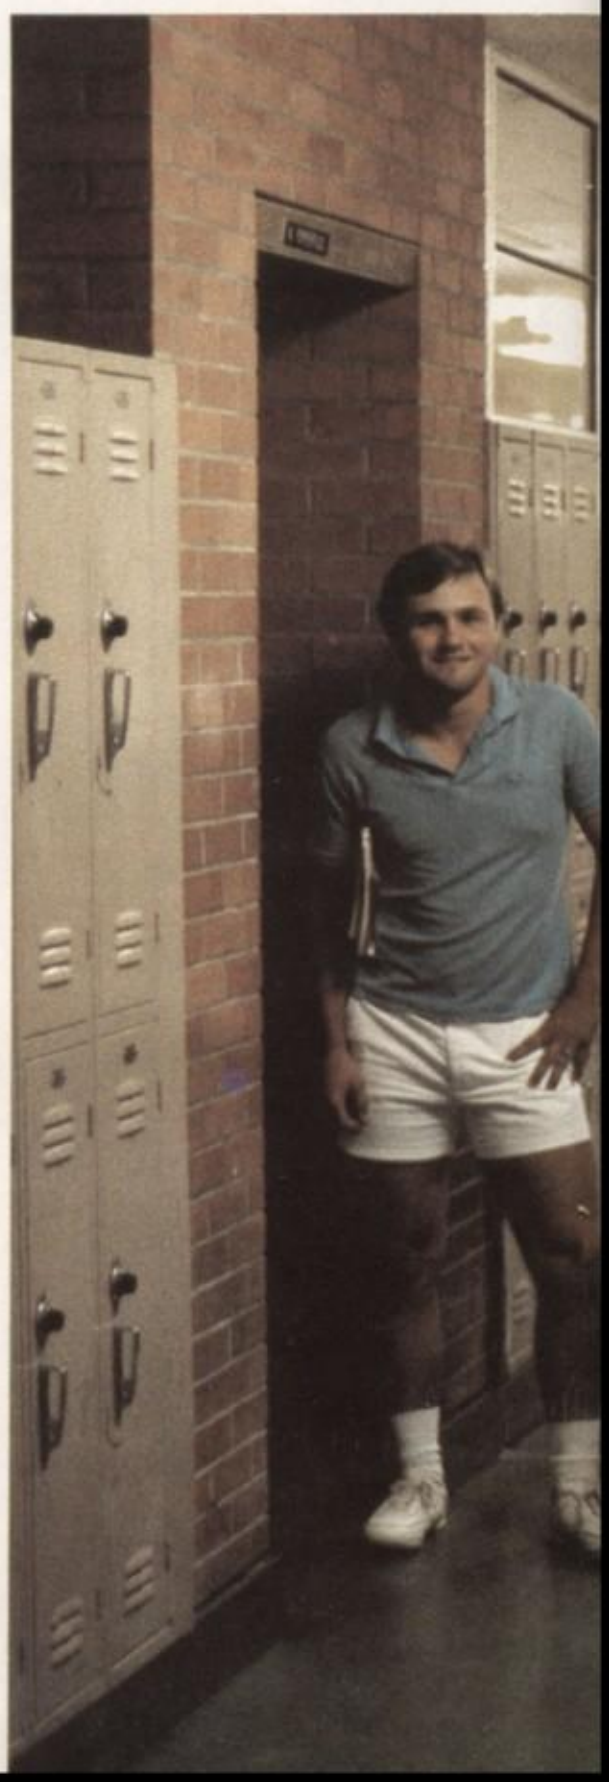
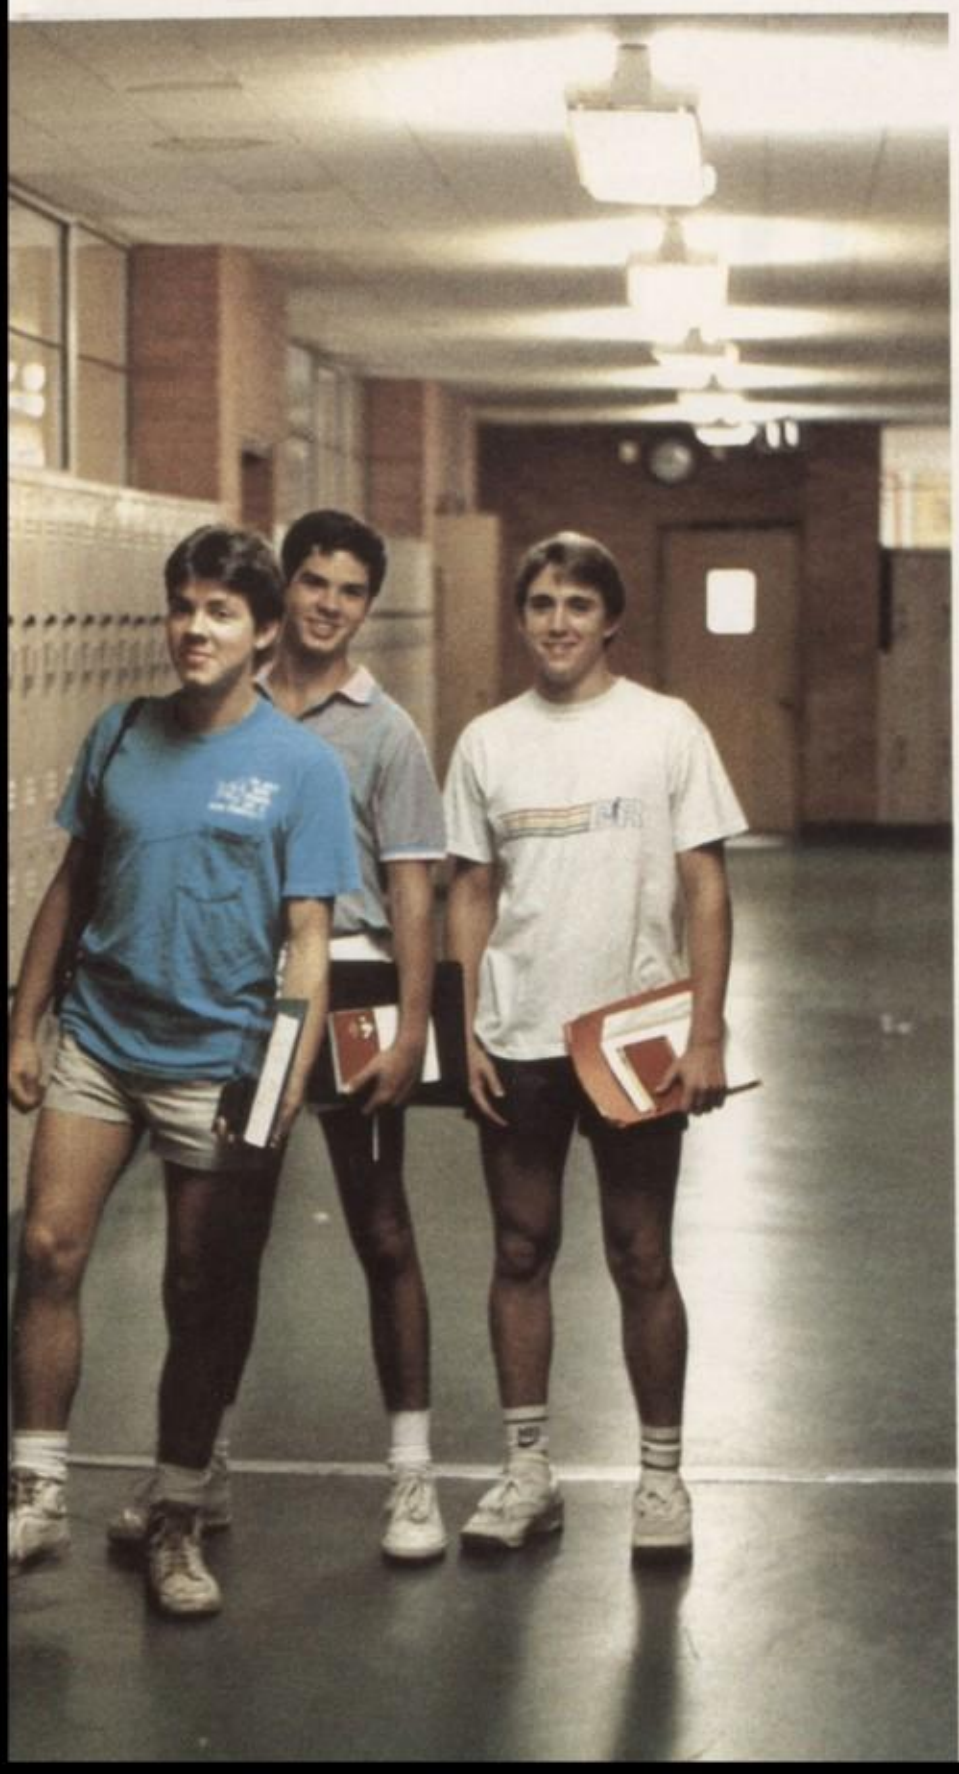
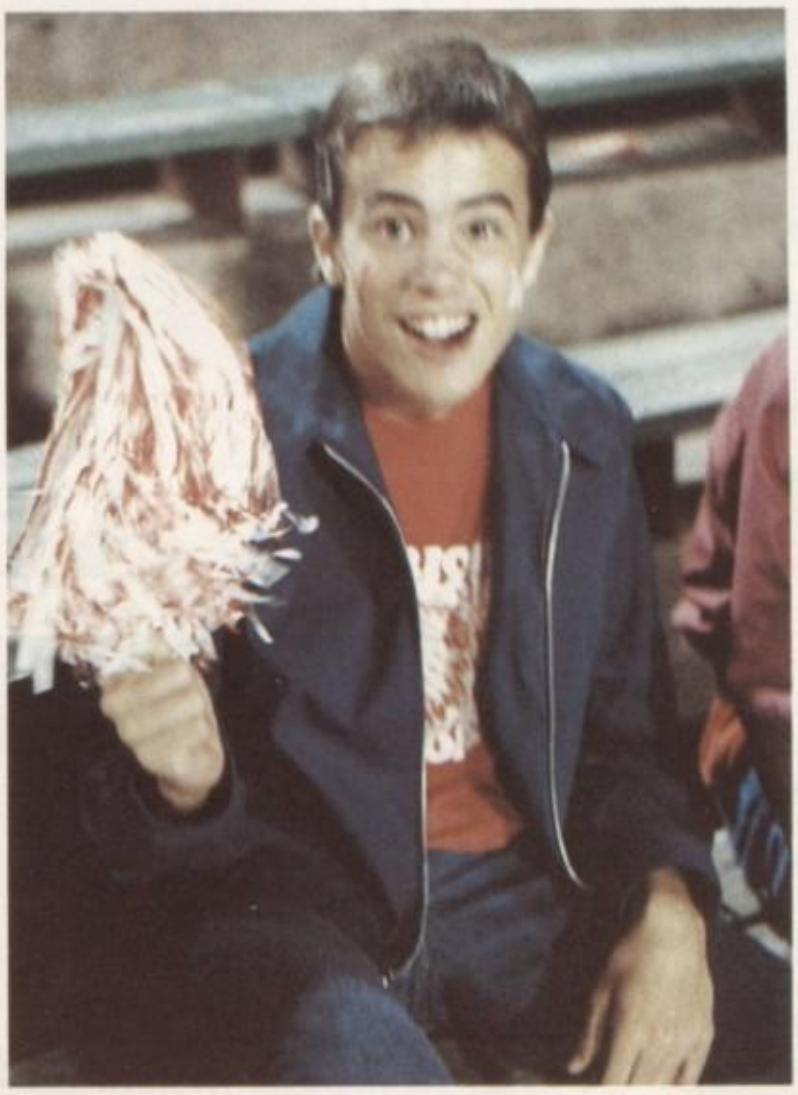
THIS YEAR WE LIVED



Living and living well were main perrogatives here at Hall High this year. Our living didn't include only the hours between 7:55 a.m. and 2:35 p.m. There were club activities, dances and caravans after hours. We had pep breakfasts, assemblies, Homecoming festivities and a parade, our Valentine belle and beau, and activities such as Orange 'N White Day to cheer on our Warrior teams. We lived through losing the victory bell to Central, and our love and support for the team didn't falter.

Off campus, students also found outside activities. But we were a close-knit tribe. Where there was one Warrior there were sure to be more nearby. There were parties, the ever-classic "cruising," and hangouts such as the malls, movie theaters, Site and War Memorial Stadium. This was the first year our own parking lot wasn't available. Students took trips with family or friends. Florida and skiing were at the top of some students' lists. Some of us went on a school-sponsored cruise for spring break. Others went to family lakehouses in Hot Springs or took a day trip to Conway. In town or out, the Warrior clan was alive and living, always easy to find and always having fun.





THIS YEAR WE PREPARED

Going to classes and doing homework weren't all that was involved at school. Sophomore year is the time when students tentatively begin to narrow down their college choices. Hall offered activities such as Career Explorer Post workshops and college representative speeches to help students prepare for their futures.

Juniors delved into their college search a little deeper. Counselors administered the PSAT so juniors would have an opportunity to practice test-taking skills. Juniors were also allowed to take the SAT and ACT if they so desired.

Then ... Senior year and bedlam. There were application deadlines, scholarship deadlines and interviews with colleges. Students learned the exhilaration of receiving the answer to a dream, or the heartbreak of seeing future dreams ruined ... all contained in one letter of acceptance or rejection.

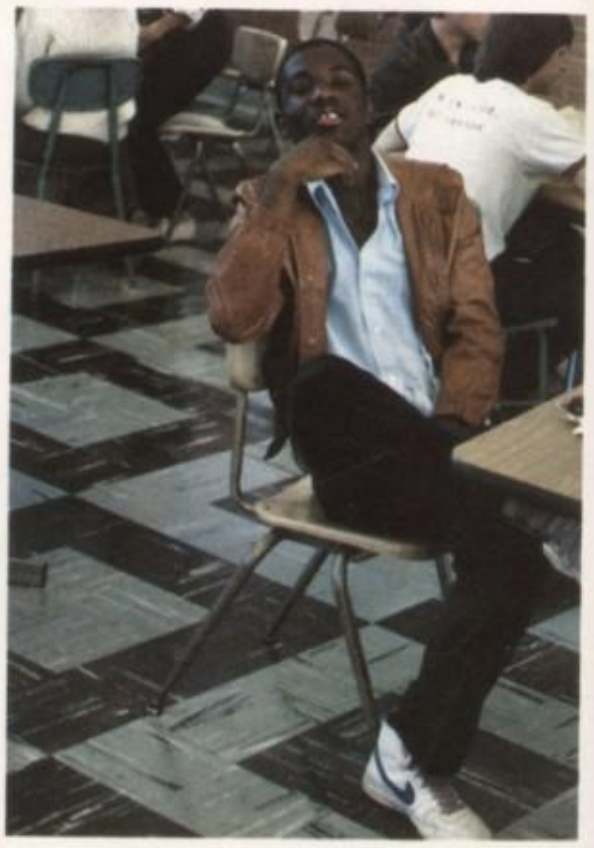
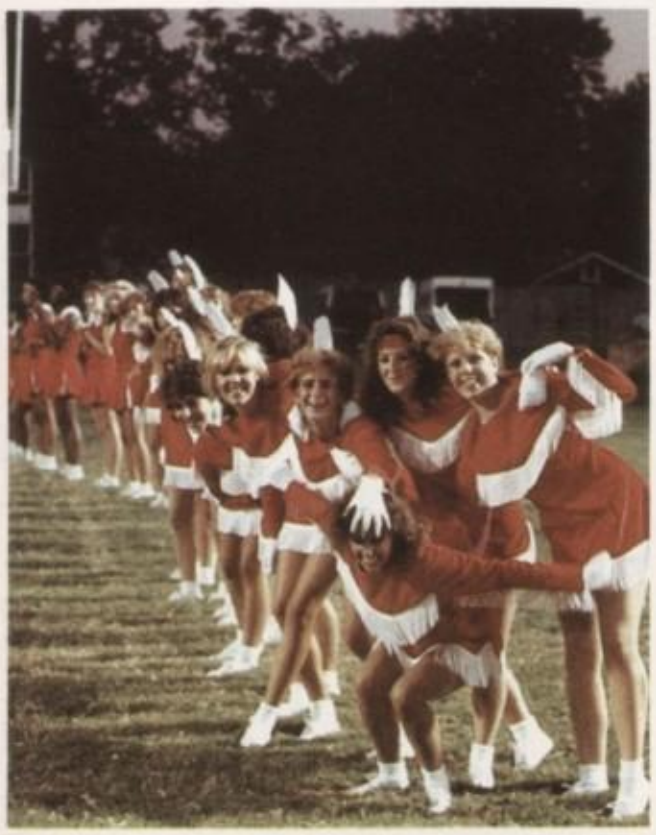
THIS YEAR WE GREW



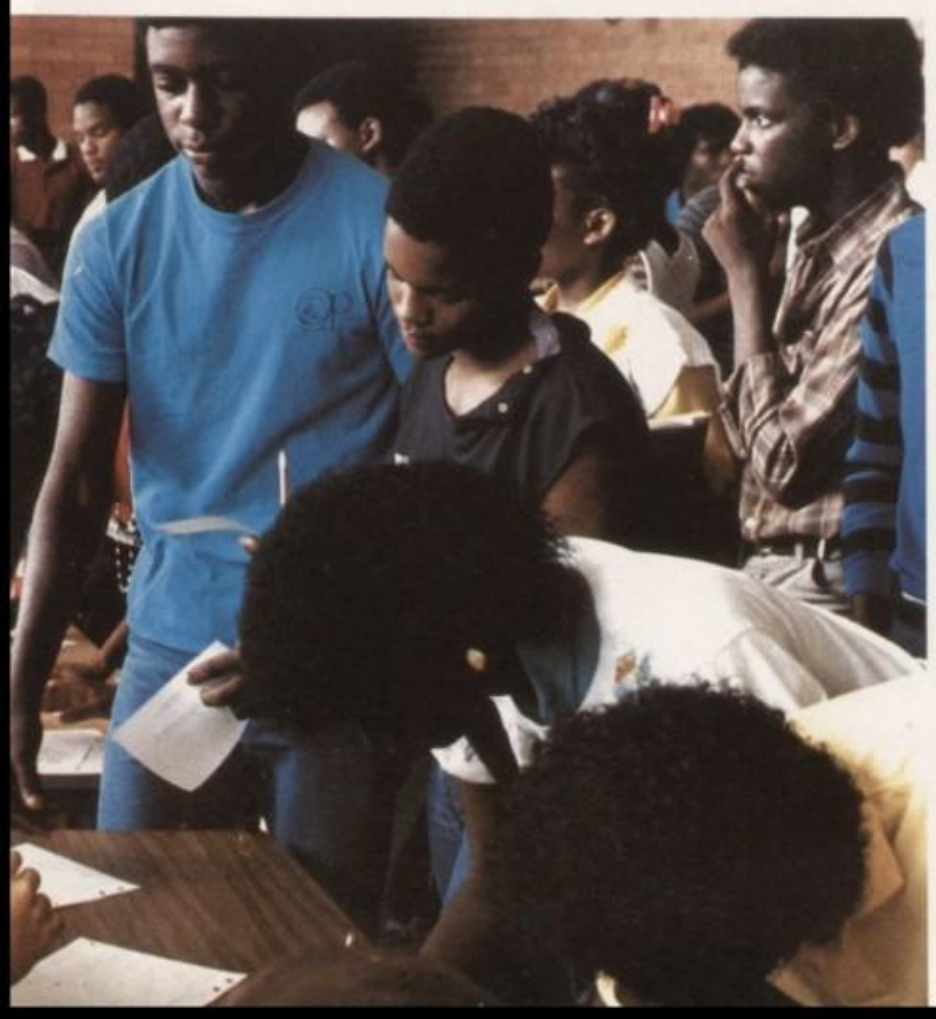
High school is a time when most students do a lot of growing up — both emotionally and physically. Remember the summer when the "wimp" next door who turned into a six-foot-tall dream? Or the freckle-faced girl wearing braces who changed into a blond-haired beauty?

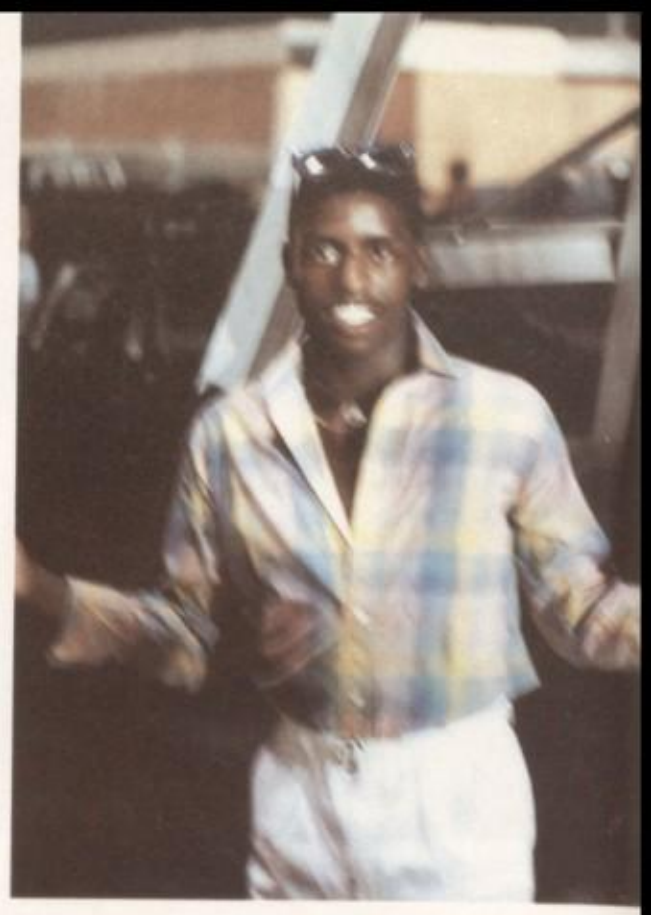
Besides physical growth, students also learned about facing responsibilities and working for privileges. Not only did students begin to be treated as adults, they also realized (finally) that they had to act like adults.

Sophomore, junior and senior classes are a never-ending cycle in high school. But this year at Hall High School, no matter which class you were in, the year was special. Because we were here, we were part of it, and it was ours.



SENIOR HIGH





THIS YEAR

WE REJOICED

Whether we won or lost, students rejoiced in being a part of the Warrior clan. The entire school rejoiced through dances, parties, Homecoming activities, football games, basketball games, volleyball matches, and tennis. Everything we did, we loved doing, and rejoiced through doing it.

The word "rejoice" held a special meaning for the seniors of 1986. In addition to participating in every activity they could get their hands on (or into), Seniors had some very special activities they called their own. These activities had been worked toward for almost twelve years. Finally it was time to rejoice. Special events were the Prom, the Senior Banquet, scholarship and award announcements and the biggest of all, GRADUATION.

Rejoicing . . . Warrior style.

STUDENT LIFE

Every student at Hall High School has contributed to its Student Life. School involved a whole lot more than just going to class. The Warrior crowd has always been known for its tremendous school spirit and pride.

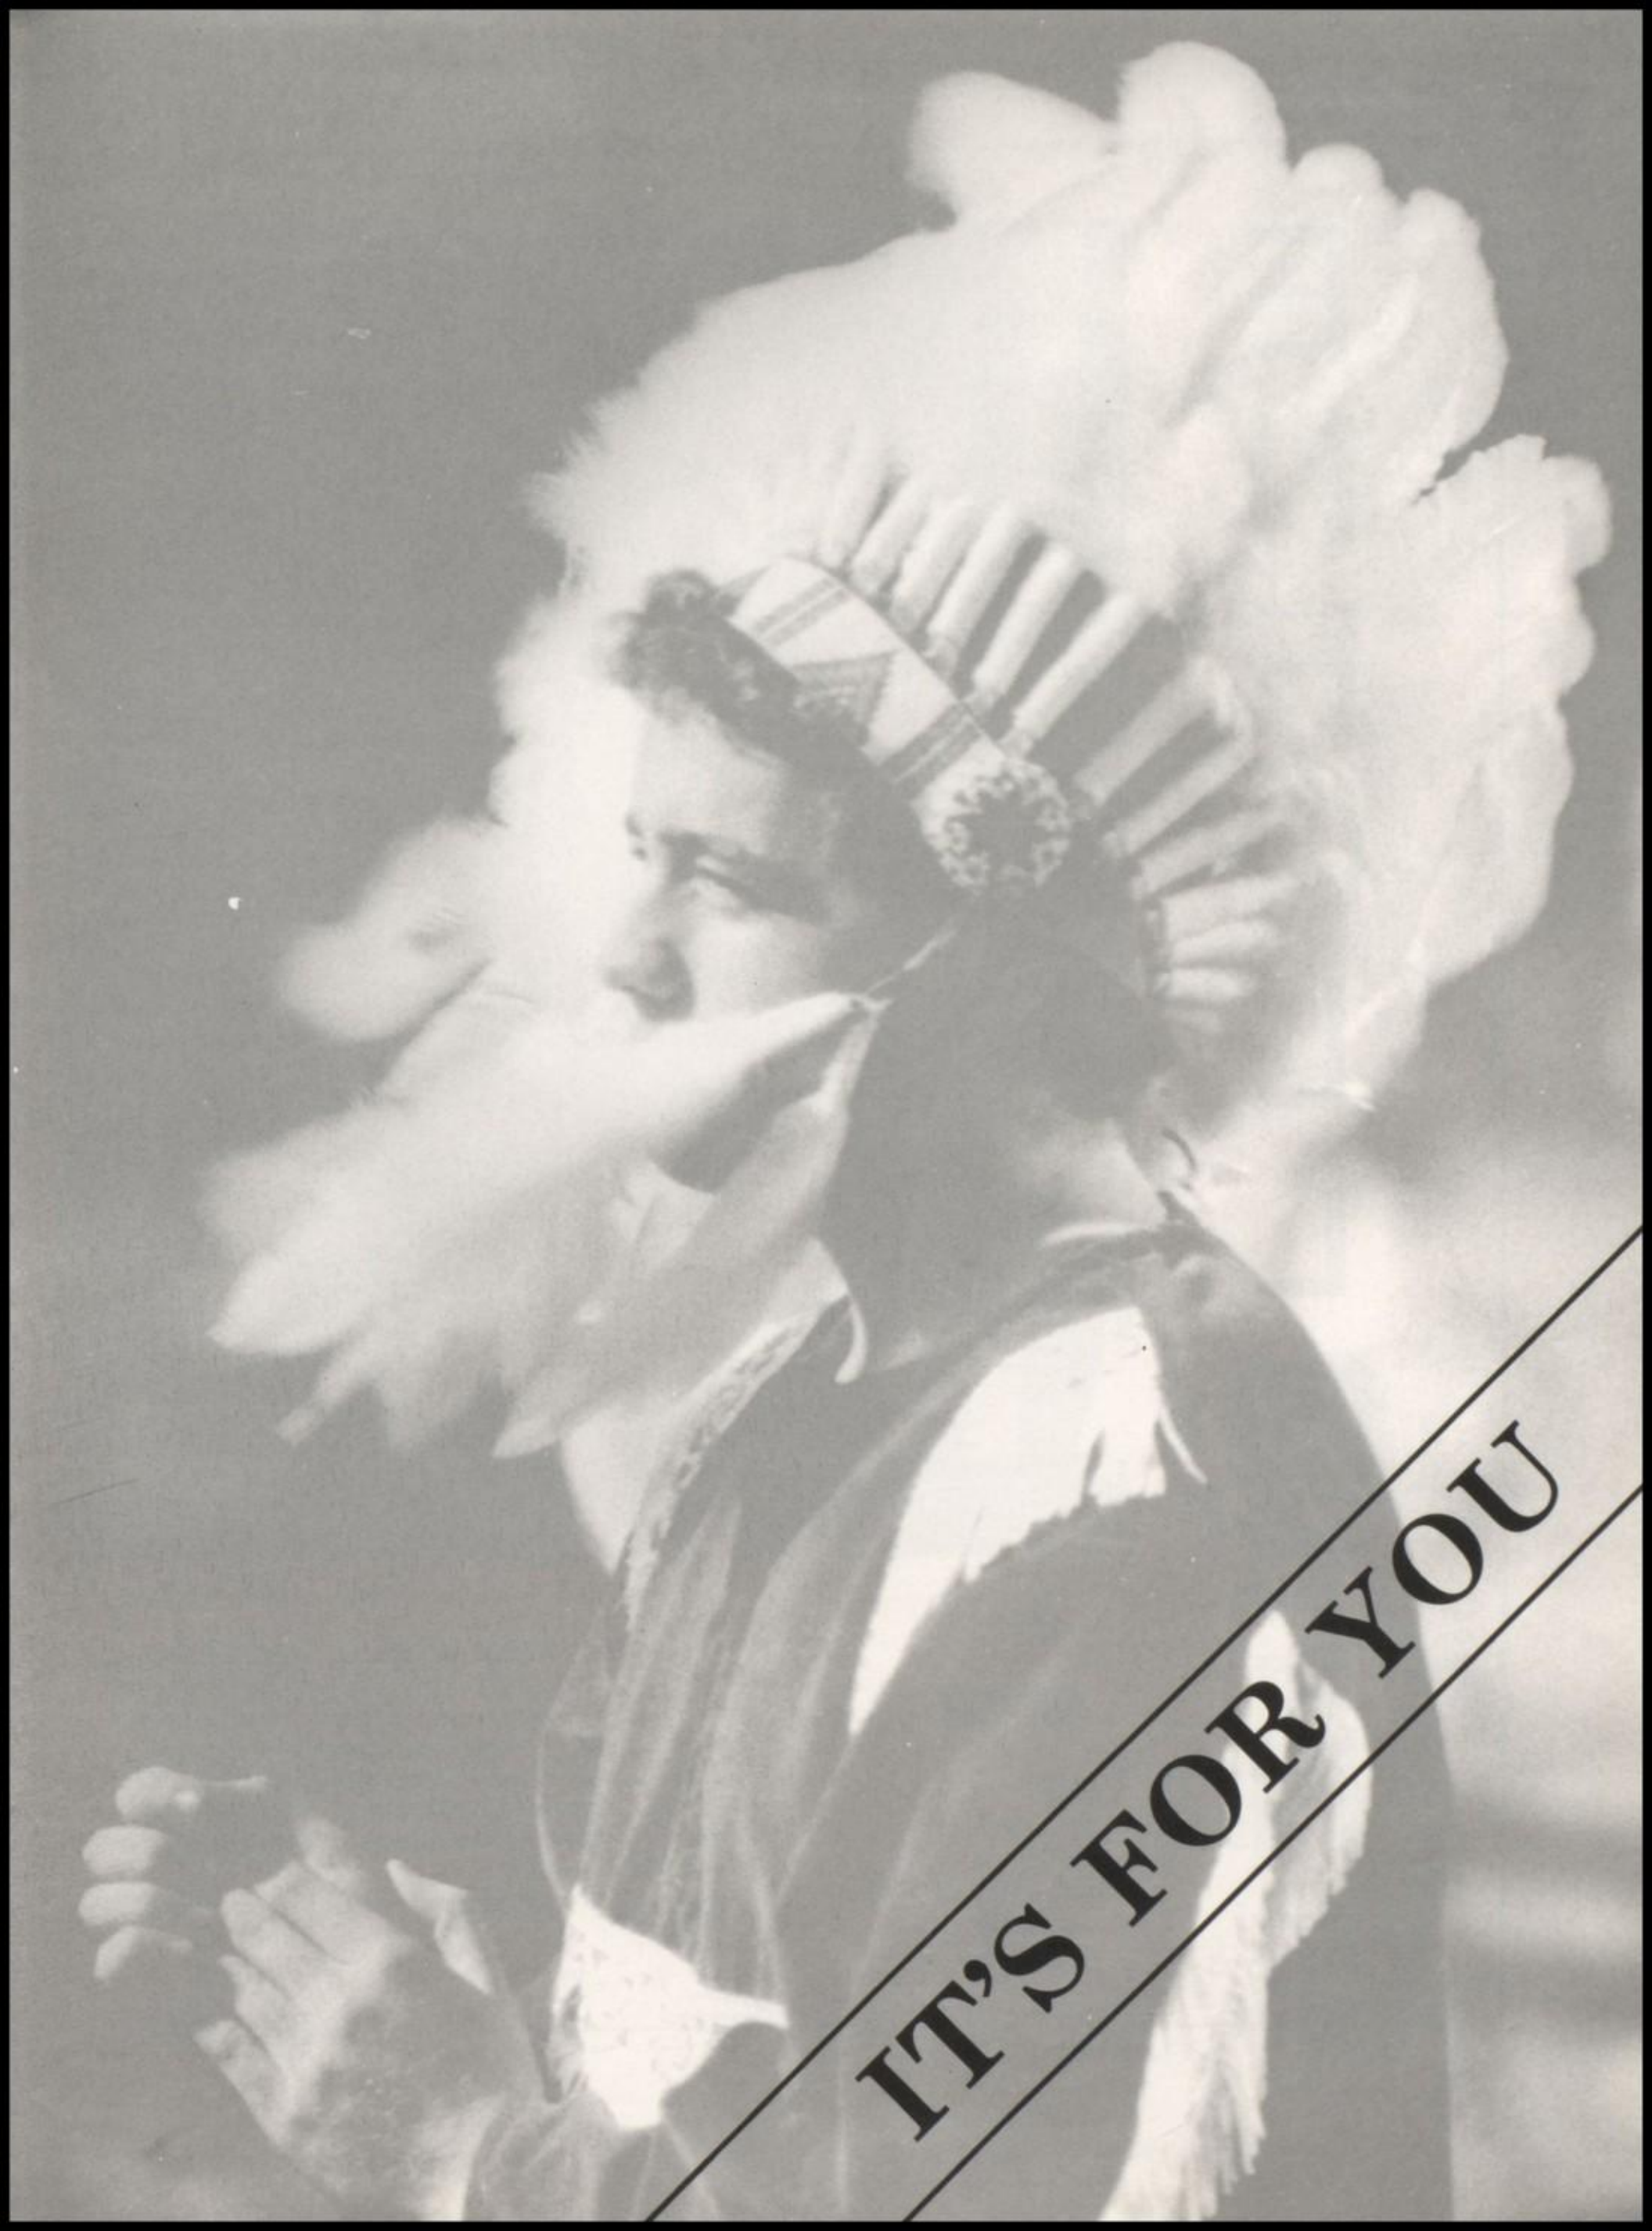
On Friday nights during the fall students could be found at the Warrior football games. With everyone decked out in orange and white, a Warrior fan could be spotted a mile away.

But games were not the only place where Warriors could be found on the weekends. Many students had jobs of their own where they made extra money. Some students took trips up to Fayetteville or to Hot Springs to get away for the weekend.

A group of Y-Teen girls played powder puff football and came in first place in the league. The male cheerleaders that cheered for them also won the first place trophy. Three teams of boys from Hall played in the basketball league at the Boys Club.

Many students also participated in contests that tested their knowledge. Hall sent a team to the Knowledge Bowl at University Mall.

Students shopped, played frisbee, went to dances, out on dates, traveled, played sports, and found many other things to do while they were not in class. The Student Life at Hall was only one thing this year . . . DYNAMIC!



IT'S FOR YOU

ENROLLMENT

The 1985-86 attendance increased by 25 students, jumping from 975 last year to nearly 1,000 students. This increase of students was felt by all Hall students who found themselves pushing and shoving their way down the corridors to get from one class to another.

Private schools lost 150 former students to Hall this year. Yet, some 125 students left Hall this year, evening out the count.

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR'S SCHOOL 1985

Arkansas Governor's School is an annual program sponsored by the state of Arkansas. In this program students from all over Arkansas spend five and one-half weeks at Hendrix College in Conway, Arkansas. During this time the students had many different learning experiences that ranged from meeting different people to hearing controversial speakers to analyzing one's own personality and opinions. The students were also introduced into "20th Century Thought" in different areas such as the Social Sciences, Natural Sciences, Mathematics, English, Visual Arts, Drama, Instrumental Music, and Choral Music. Hall had 12 students accepted into this highly competitive program. They were Abraham Borum, Steve Cashman, Travis Dooley, Jairus Durnett, Blair Beavers, Wendy Gauntt, Sherri Lewis, Creshelle Nash, Steve Nelson, Caryn Talburt, Virginia Ralph, and Renee West. All the students agree that this was a truely unique learning experience.

TOP 10 SHOWCASE

There were four categories in this year's Talent Show that was sponsored by the Student Council. The categories were: vocal, instrumental, dramatic and dance. Approximately nineteen groups tried out this year at auditions January 28th. The sound equipment was worked by the sound crew. Eight judges made the decisions of the finalists. The judges were: Sara Miller, Kevin Perry, Alita Mantels, (faculty); Norma Moore, Dale Ronnel, Ada Hollingsworth, (parents); and Richelle Davis and Carmen Hamilton, (students).

Three dress rehearsals were held for the final production. Each category rehearshed at least six hours. The finalists were: Deja Vu, Tatia Hall, Cora Jones, Scotty Roberts, Stacey Williamson, The Dirty Dawg Crew, (first year contestants); Larry Zeigler, Lisa Walker, Uptown Express, (second year contestants); and The Untouchables (last year's winners).

Cora Jones sings her heart out in the 1986 Talent Show.

Student judge Richelle Davis said, "All contestants showed a great deal of enthusiasm. As a student judge, (I felt) the decision was hard because the competition was tough. The sound technicians really helped make the auditions run smoothly."

Peace Links? What's that?

Peace Links is "a non-profit organization that educates people about the nuclear war issue. Its goal is to link existing clubs, churches, etc.; to give people the knowledge that they need to make the world a safer place in which to live." There are no dues or fees. Peace Links believes there are alternatives to nuclear war. They are simple alternatives but ones that will work.

This year a special speaker the club enjoyed was Kent Larrabee, a retired Quaker social worker from Philadelphia. His topic was "The Russians are People, Too." He shared with the group personal accounts of his trip to the Soviet Union, aided by slides.

Peace Link members also participated in Hands Across America, a 4,000 mile long line composed of ten million Americans from New York to Los Angeles. The proceeds from this line went to the hungry and homeless here in America.

YOUNG LIFE

Young Life is a Christian organization that many students attend, grades 10-12. It is run by Brian and Debbie Dinsmore. It is held every Monday night around 7:30. During spring break, an annual ski trip is taken to Winter Park Colorado. Young Life has always had many HALL members and seems to be a continuous tradition.

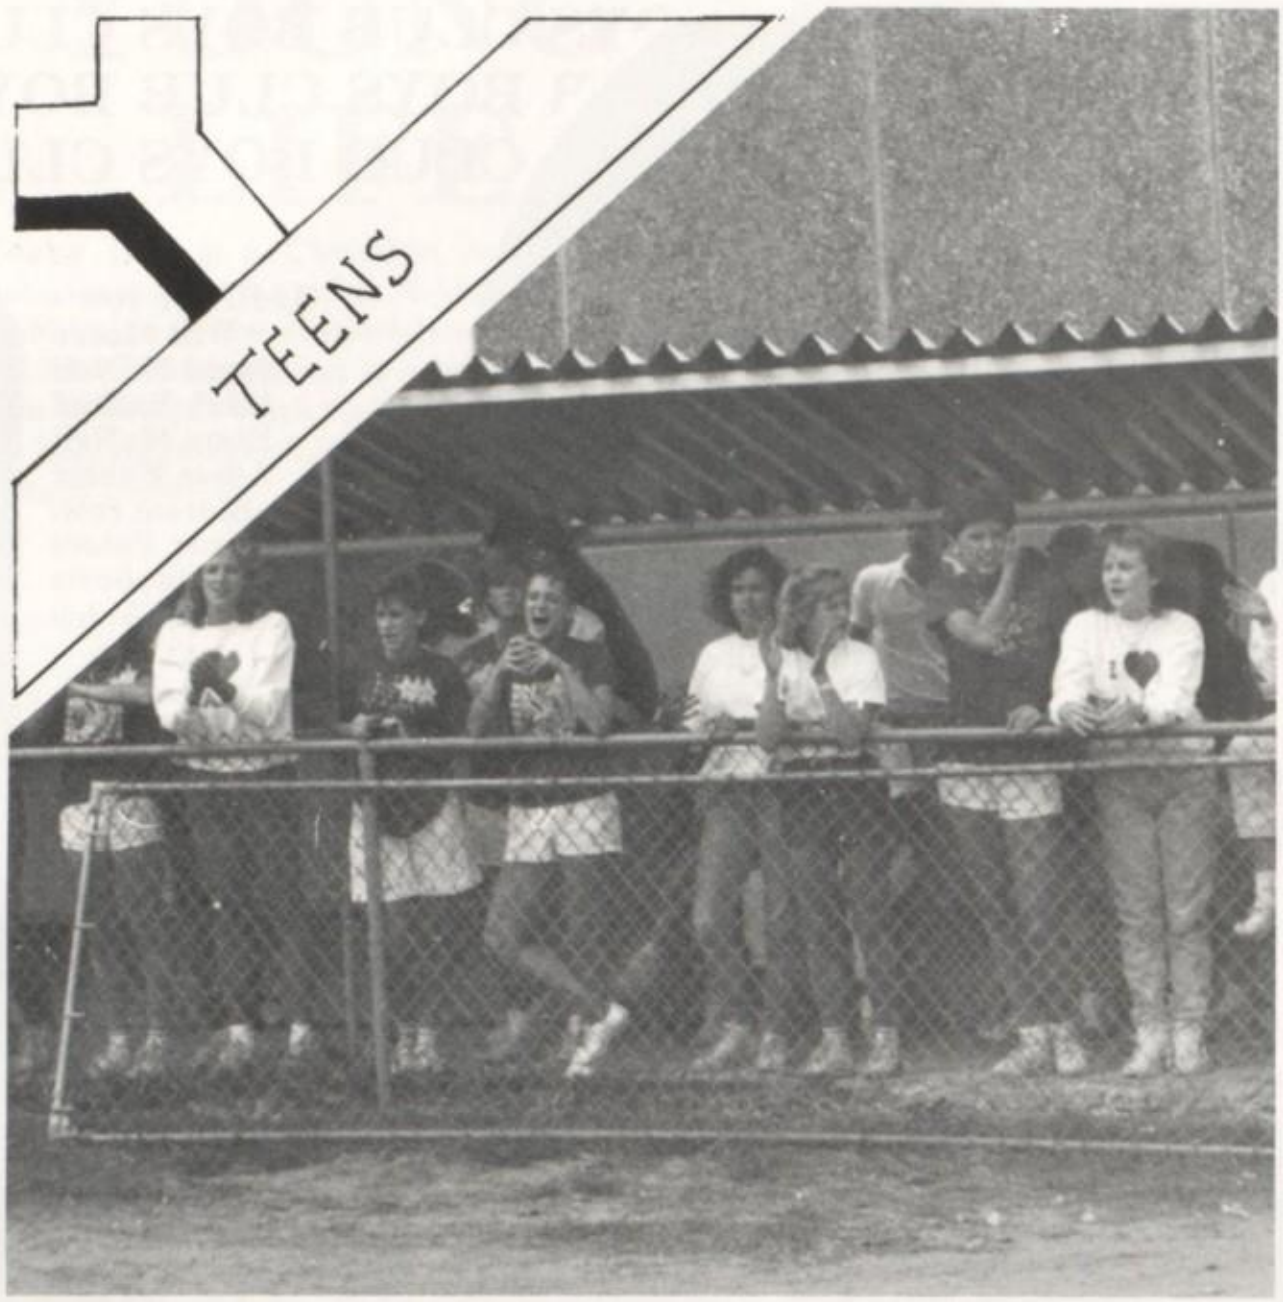
Y-TEENS



Y-Teens is a service and leadership training organization for all girls ages 12-18. Y-Teens fosters Christian ideas in all its programs. Members try to teach good leadership training skills which come through the experience of doing. Y-Teens are expected to accept the responsibility of deciding what activities members want and see that the goals for that activity are carried out and accomplished. Another major emphasis is learning that "it is better to give than to receive". Everything Y-Teens wants its members to get out of this year represents others, not themselves. Whether it's growing as a person, in a friendship, or in the love of God.

REVIEWING

People often wonder what is meant by "reviewing events" and why these pages are part of the Hall High yearbook. In years to come as students flip back through the Warrior, the staff hopes these pages will offer a reminder of which people and events were important during the 1985-86 school year. We'll remember Governor Bill Clinton, Arkansas' governor and advocate for higher educational standards for the state, President Ronald Reagan, the foreign exchange students on campus for the year, and the Arkansas State Fair — all are part of this year's memories.

Governor Bill Clinton advocates higher educational standards.

Arkansas celebrates its 150th anniversary of statehood in 1986.

EVENTS

"Now calm down Nancy," requests President Reagan.

Exchange students provided 'culture' at Hall.

The 1985 Arkansas State Fair was a success.

SPORTS

The athletic program at Hall High has always been one of the best in the state. Not only in the major sports have we excelled, but also in the smaller team sports.

Hall's football team this year had a new head coach, Mr. Roy Wade, and a new assistant coach, Mr. Ellis Register. The football team started out the summer with practices that were held twice a day. School soon started and the football team provided the school with an exciting season.

The basketball team started practicing at the beginning of the year every day after school. Under the direction of head coach Oliver Elders, the Hall High basketball team led the school into a very thrilling season. The hard work and dedication of the team showed in every game they played.

Boys and girls alike have worked together to make Hall's athletic program one of the best. No matter what the sport, or the record on the season, Hall High School's athletes showed the quality of skill, sportsmanship, and endurance on and off the court.

Warriors win opening game, lose to tough Charger team

The Warriors began the 1985 season with a great deal of uncertainty. Roy Wade began his first season as head coach, replacing the legendary C.W. Keopple, who retired at the end of the 84-85 school year. In the opening game, the Warriors faced the Sylvan Hills Bears for the first time in the history of the two schools. The Warriors displayed an explosive offense. Anthony Sims shined as he scored two touchdowns, first on a 42-yard strike from quarterback Rodney Lewis and then on a 45-yard run. On September 12 the Warriors lost to an outstanding Northeast team. Hall's defense had a hard time containing the Chargers' powerful rushing attack, and the Warrior offense was frustrated all evening long by a swarming Northeast defense.

Does anybody see what is wrong with this sign?

Warriors trip Ole Main, lose tough one to Central

Terry McClinton and Scott Dinwiddie each rushed for over 100 yards as the Warriors won their home opener by rallying past the Ole Main Wildcats, 14-0. McClinton, who romped for 127 yards, including 109 in the second half, dived over from a yard out at the 7:59 mark of the fourth quarter.
Dinwiddie, who rushed for 114 yards, with 86 coming in the first half, bulled his way in to score with five seconds left on the clock, sealing the win.

The next week the Warriors renewed their bitter rivalry with highly ranked Little Rock Central. Although the Central Tigers prevailed with victory, the Warriors fought tooth and nail and made Central earn their win.

Warriors rip Hot Springs, win conference opener

On October 4 the Warriors played their final non-conference game of the season as they waltzed past the Hot Springs Trojans 29-0. Bob Ware scored two touchdowns, first returning a blocked punt 13 yards and then on a 4-yard run with 1:44 left, to raise their record to 3-2.

The Warriors began AAAA-Central conference play at Mills High and came away with a convincing 26-14 victory. Al Walker caught two touchdown passes in the first half, first a 30-yard strike from quarterback Rodney Lewis, and then an 11-yard halfback pass from Terry McClinton. Scott Dinwiddie scored from 28 yards out in the third quarter and McClinton erased all doubt with an 18-yard end sweep in the fourth quarter.

Like a brick wall!!!

Warriors Beat Zebras, End Parkview Jinx

On October 18, the Warriors rallied to take a 14-9 victory over the Pine Bluff Zebras at rainswept Jordan Stadium.

Trailing 7-0 the Warriors scored on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Rodney Lewis to Ken Mayweather and then on a 38-yard run by Terry McClinton, who led all rushers with 118 yards on 22 carries.

The next week the Warriors defeated the Parkview Patriots 28-24 in overtime to celebrate Hall's homecoming. After the two teams battled to a 21-21 tie at the end of regulation play, Parkview kicked a field goal and the Warriors had to score. On third down Terry McClinton ran a sweep right and ran untouched into the end zone.

Warriors lose last three games

The Warriors went into their final two games needing only one victory to clinch a share of the conference title. At War Memorial Stadium the Warriors were soundly defeated by Catholic High 29-7. Scott Dinwiddie scored the only touchdown from 12 yards out.

Against McClellan the Warriors lost a heartbreaker in overtime 20-14. The lose cost the Warriors a share of the conference title but they still qualified for the state playoffs. In the playoffs the team lost to Fort Smith Northside 10-0. The game was played on a very muddy field and Hall's offense could never get started.

Playing basketball requires great skill and dedication. The Warrior basketball team had both. Practicing for two hours a day after school and even during school and school holidays built the team up and helped them improve.

With our great Coach Elders returning and bringing back three starters, success was sure to be had. Jimmy Hinton, Rodney Peel, and DeWayne Booker were the returning starters. Kenneth Brown and Rodney Lewis also were on the court for the tip-off.

The 1985 Lady Warriors enjoyed a successful season as a team that was described by Head Coach Carolyn Slater as a mixture of experience and youth. The team finished in a tie for second place in the conference. Assistant Coach Marcus Davis said he was pleased with the season because "I'm the type of guy who deals with attitude, and the attitude of the team was good throughout the season. No matter the situation, they kept on fighting." Alicia Days and Michelle Harris were named to the All District team. Other members of the team included: Sabrina Alston, Suzanne Cashman, Sonji Collins, Deborah Crawford, Angela Robinson, Regina Russell, Tanita Sanders, Tracey Tyson, Laura Walker, and Michelle Williams.

Building Toward The Future

Coach Marcus Davis began his first season as head coach of the girl's team with an extremely young team. Of the eleven players on the roster, seven were sophomores. Although they only won one game during the season, Coach Davis said attitude was never a problem. "Before and after every practice I try and say something to encourage them. The team never gave up."

The two seniors were Joyce Hayes and Tamica Jackson. The lone junior ws Rosland Williams. The sophomores included Suzanne Cashman, Jennell Durnett, Cora Jones, Karen Nelson, Leigh Stecks, Cassandra Walker, and Michelle Williams.

CROSS COUN

The 1985-86 Cross Country Team competed in several meets during the season and climaxed the year by running in the state Cross Country Championship in Arkadelphia on November 9. The Warriors finished 7th overall in the AAAA-Division. Hall's Jon Pope was the highest finisher for the Tribe by placing 11th overall with a time of 16:31. Michael McKinney placed 31st out of the 95 runners who were competing with a time of 17:31.

In the six years there has been a county-wide soccer league, Hall High has won the last four years. In that four year period Hall has lost only two games, once to Central in 1984 and also to Central in 1985. Their overall record in the last four years is 36 wins, two losses, and two ties.

Hall High has had the bulk of the All-City players in the last four years. From this year's team All-City players include: Mike Farris, Hal Hudgens, Adam Gadberry, Andy Packmore and Scot Rogers. Several of those players will receive college scholarships this year or next. They have already had one scholarship player, Amy Winston, who was offered a four-year scholarship to the U. of Massachusetts but instead elected to play for Harvard.

Also, Mike Farris was selected Arkansas High School Player of the Year of 1985.

This year's team, captained by Hal Hudgens, Andy Packmore, Mike Farris, and Scot Rogers, is again favored to win the championship but will be pushed by Catholic High and Central High.

What form!

Concentrating Kevin?!

The 1986 Warrior Tennis Team, sponsored by Coach George Loss, had many more sophomores participating in it than in the past years. There were also players who transferred from other schools, improving the team's chances for a good season. The team hoped to beat their last year's accomplishment of fourth place in double's competition in the district.

Tennis is not one of the more celebrated team sports at Hall High School, but its members had a great time playing such crosstown rivals such as Central, Parkview and Catholic Highs. The team had six matches that started in the middle of March and lasted through the end of April.

The Hall High Swim Team traveled to Hendrix College in Conway for the first high school swim meet of the season. The District High School Meet was held at UALR. Finally, the High School State Championships were held at Hendrix in March. Swimmers have to make qualifying times to participate in the State Championships.

Hall had eleven swimmers for the 1985-'86 school year: Angie Oudegeest, Elizabeth Polk, Nicole Reinhardt, Heather Hudgens, Angela Johnson, Robyn Eiseman, Greg Golladay, Charles Coleman, Zack Paal, Valerie Dickerson, and Noel Strauss.

Six of Hall's swimmers qualified for the Region VIII Championships held in St. Louis, Mo. These were Angie Oudegeest, Elizabeth Polk, Nicole Reinhardt, Valerie Dickerson, Greg Golladay, and Noel Strauss. Nicole Reinhardt qualified and attended the National Junior Olympics four seasons, made High School All-American and received the Gary Schultz Award for Outstanding Female Swimmer in Arkansas.

CLUBS/ ACADEMICS

Many of the extracurricular activities at Hall this year were centered around organizations and clubs.

At the first of the school year all the clubs held a one week school-wide club drive. At this time students were able to choose from over 30 clubs in which to participate.

A calendar was set up to organize what day the different clubs would meet at lunch.

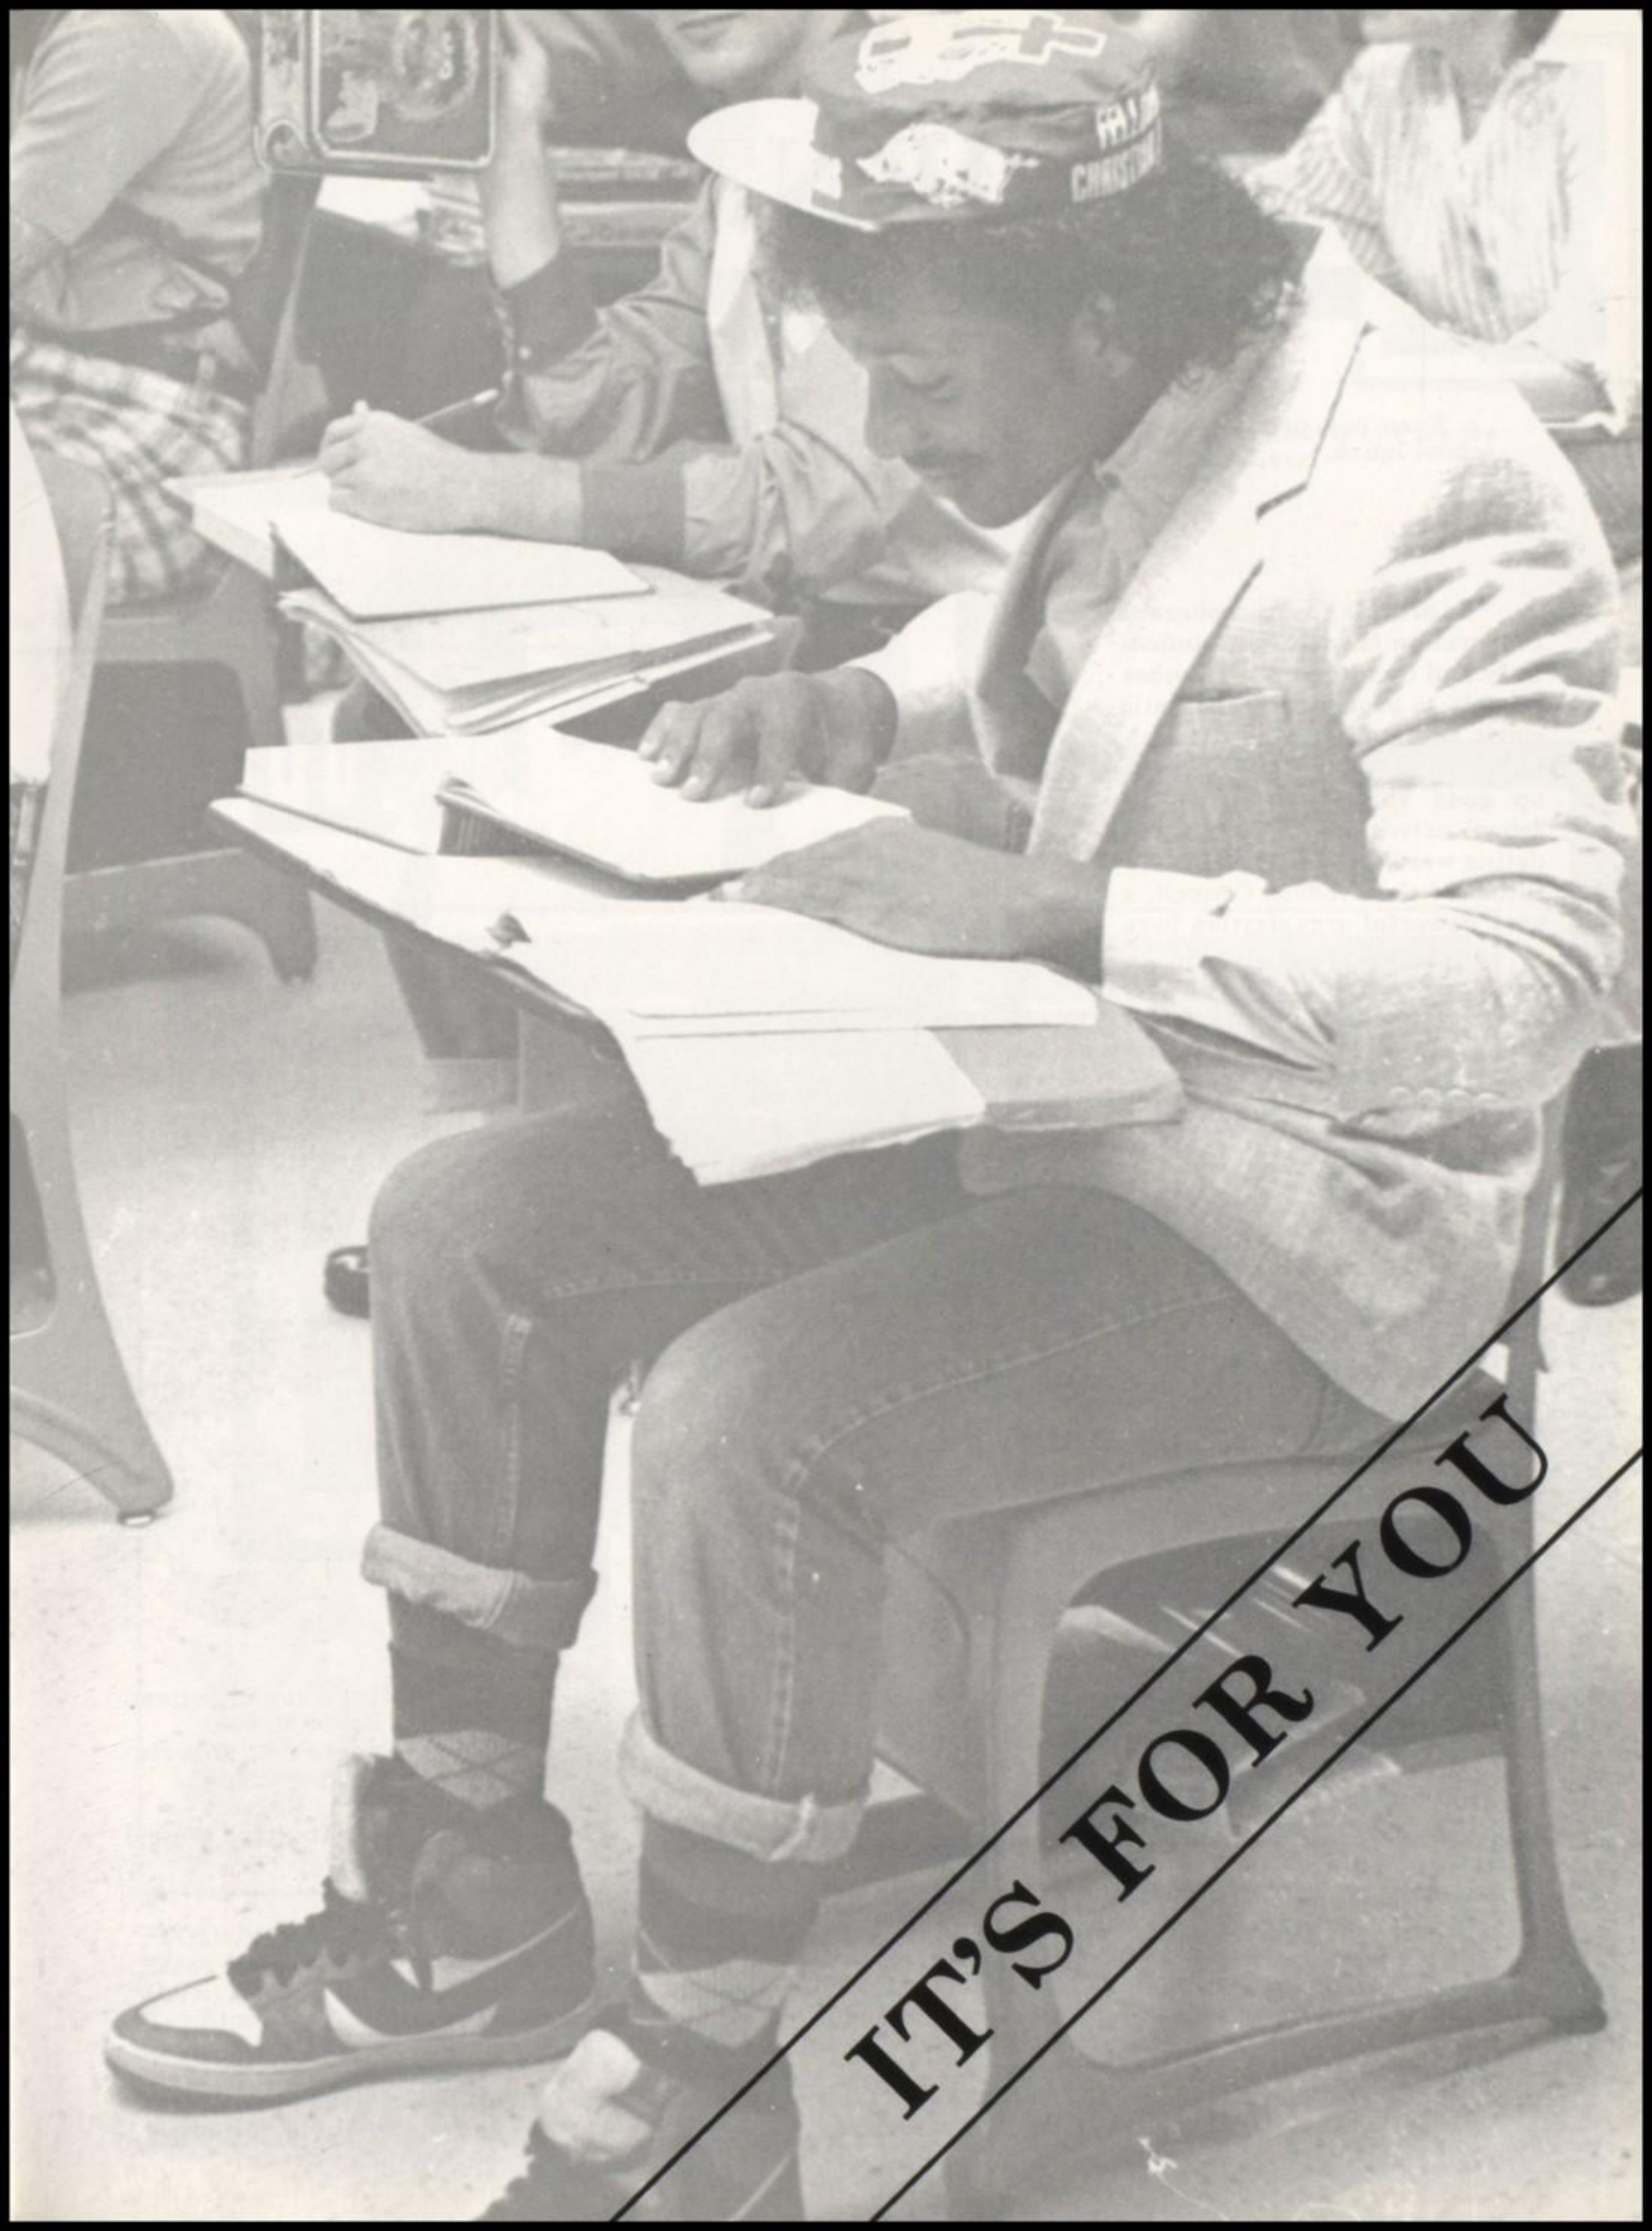
Many clubs participated in the Homecoming parade and the first annual Club-Fest which was held on November 15.

The Inner-Club Council was made up of all the clubs vice-presidents of the various clubs. They primarily coordinated all of the clubs activities and planned special ones for the whole school.

Many clubs sold candy, balloons, held dances, and garage sales to raise money for different activities throughout the year.

Classes were also a major part of a student's day. From the biology lab to the language hall, students were challenged and tested throughout the year. Many classes took field trips and had speakers come to give talks. This was definitely the place where students spent the majority of their time.

The classes and clubs greatly added to the excitement at Hall High.



IT'S FOR YOU

STUDENT COUNCIL

... Even our principal eats the school lunch.

"To provide an atmosphere of cooperation between the student body and faculty and with other schools, to promote a democratic spirit and more student participation in our school, and to develop good sportsmanship in all school activities." These intimidating words are from the constitution of the Student Council, a very powerful organization here at our school. It is headed by President David McNeil and aided by sponsors Mr. Charles Thompson and Mr. Bill Barnhouse.

This year we thank Student Council for its annual activities including dances, TWIRP Week, Homecoming (which included the parade, assembly, half-time festivities and dance), the student directory, spirit items ... the list goes on and on. We add to this the fact that each year its members give a gift to the school. Last year's gift, new legs for the auditorium curtains, exceeded the cost of $2,000.

The Student Council met every week on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 a.m. A special project this year provided funds to bring the school's general fund out of debt. Mr. Barnhouse summed up the Student Council very well, saying, "Student Council is a vital part of our school. They make major decisions that affect the student body. They are a reflection of what Hall High students want and do."

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society was involved with many events this year. At the PTSA open house, members of the NHS helped parents find their way through the halls.

The main purpose of the National Honor Society is to promote interest in scholarships and to develop leadership abilities. To be a member of NHS, a student must have a 3.5 grade point average, and exhibit exceptional citizenship and attendance.

Each month members of the NHS made a soup box and a paper goods package and donated them to the McDonald House. The package consisted of articles such as napkins, paper plates, cups and towels.

The NHS also sponsored the delegates to Girls State and Boys State. During Easter, they provided treats for the kindergarteners.

This year's officers were Creshelle Nash, president; Travis Dooley, vice president; and Jennifer Straub, secretary-treasurer.

Beta Club Is Active In '86

The Beta Club

The Beta Club was one of Hall's most active clubs this year. To qualify for membership, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.0, have good conduct, good attendance, and participate in the club's activities.

During the Christmas holidays, the students gathered toys to donate to the St. Francis House. In addition, they participated in the Arthritis Foundation Telethon. In January, Beta Club members went to a State Conference held in Little Rock at the Little Rock Convention Center.

This years officers were: President Scott Beardsley, Vice President Ashley Riggin, Secretary Jennifer Straub, and Treasurer Jan Meyer.

The boys didn't want to be as serious as Parkview's or Central's lettermen, but hope they have started a tradition. The two juniors, Adam and Stuart, plan to carry it on to next year. David, Scotty, and Aeron designed their T-shirts which were worn faithfully to all activities. Each guy had a special duty that he carried out: Will often came in hand as their portable arsenal, while Jon P. was their high man on the pyramid. Marvin - the human bullhorn, Stuart - the gas man, Brock - "teaches us how to talk that talk," while David "teaches us how to walk that walk." Scott - left his house available for "pre-game" Andy - provided us with transportation, John B. - the extra rhythm, Jed - attracted all the "ladies" Adam K. - gave us diamond rings, Adam G. - enjoys flipping, Aeron - gave us good land to farm, and Scot was able to show us that woman cannot run a boy's life.

St. Judes

The St. Jude's Club follows the leadership of Ms. Kitty Sanders as aided by president Sherri Lewis. The sole purpose of the club is to raise money for the St. Jude's Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. Club members do this by putting out collection cans in local businesses and taking collections from students. In the last few years, the average amount raised has been $2,000 and it is raised solely by the students' efforts. Students also participated in St. Jude Telethons.

AFS

The American Field Service is one example of the many interesting clubs that are popular at Hall High. It is a group of very special students, many of them from foreign countries world wide. These students live with a host family of a high school student while staying in America.

The American members main concern is the well being of the exchange students during their stay.

A major activity of the club was the raising of money to allow the foreign students to call home at Christmas.

INTERCLUB COUNCIL

The Interclub Council consists of all of the vice presidents of the clubs involved in school. The club was sponsored by Kitty Sanders and Linda Brown. The council met on intermittent meetings, but when these meetings were held the outcomes were profitable as well as prosperous to the social life of the students at Hall High.

An example of a productive idea initiated by the council was the conception of showing the students the consequences of alcohol and drug abuse and the introduction of SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving). The council was very enthusiastic and energetic throughout the year, trying to spread the word of SADD to the students.

- Governor

Last summer 23 Hall High Warriors participated in the annual Boys and Girls State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. In this one week seminar held at the area colleges, delegates learned about the structure and function of state governments. Many prominent figures spoke to the groups, some of which were Governor Bill Clinton, U.S. Senator Dale Bumpers, Attorney General Steve Clark and Treasurer Jimmie Lou Fisher. After looking at the governments closely each group elected officers to run "mock" governments. To end the week-long process, there was a trip to the Arkansas State Capitol to allow delegates to actually perform in their elected positions. Delegates came away with a new perspective of state government and American politics.

The Christian Way.

His Strength Continues!!

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) program here at Hall has opened new doors for most football, basketball and track athletes. It provided a place for athletes of all religions to meet and talk with people their own age about the Christian experience.

Under the guidance of local FCA directors Debbie Lloyd, Chuck Beale; and Steve Boder, Hall's FCA counselor and a former Hall student, FCA has challenged athletes to get involved with Christ. The boys meet once a week to eat and have fellowship.

This year representatives were selected to assist Mr. Boder. They were: Terry McClinton and Scott Dinwiddie (seniors), Larry Ziegler, Mark Howard and Al Walker (juniors), and Marc Hall (sophomore).

At the end of last year Scott Dinwiddie, Larry Ziegler, Al Walker, Marc Howard, Scott Miller, Anthony Sims, Chris Allen and 1985 senior Fred Williams attended an FCA conference at Texas A & M University. The conference was entitled "Renewed by His Strength."

FCA is fun and for everyone. They are an enthusiastic and dedicated group of boys with a lot of pride and a lot of involvement.

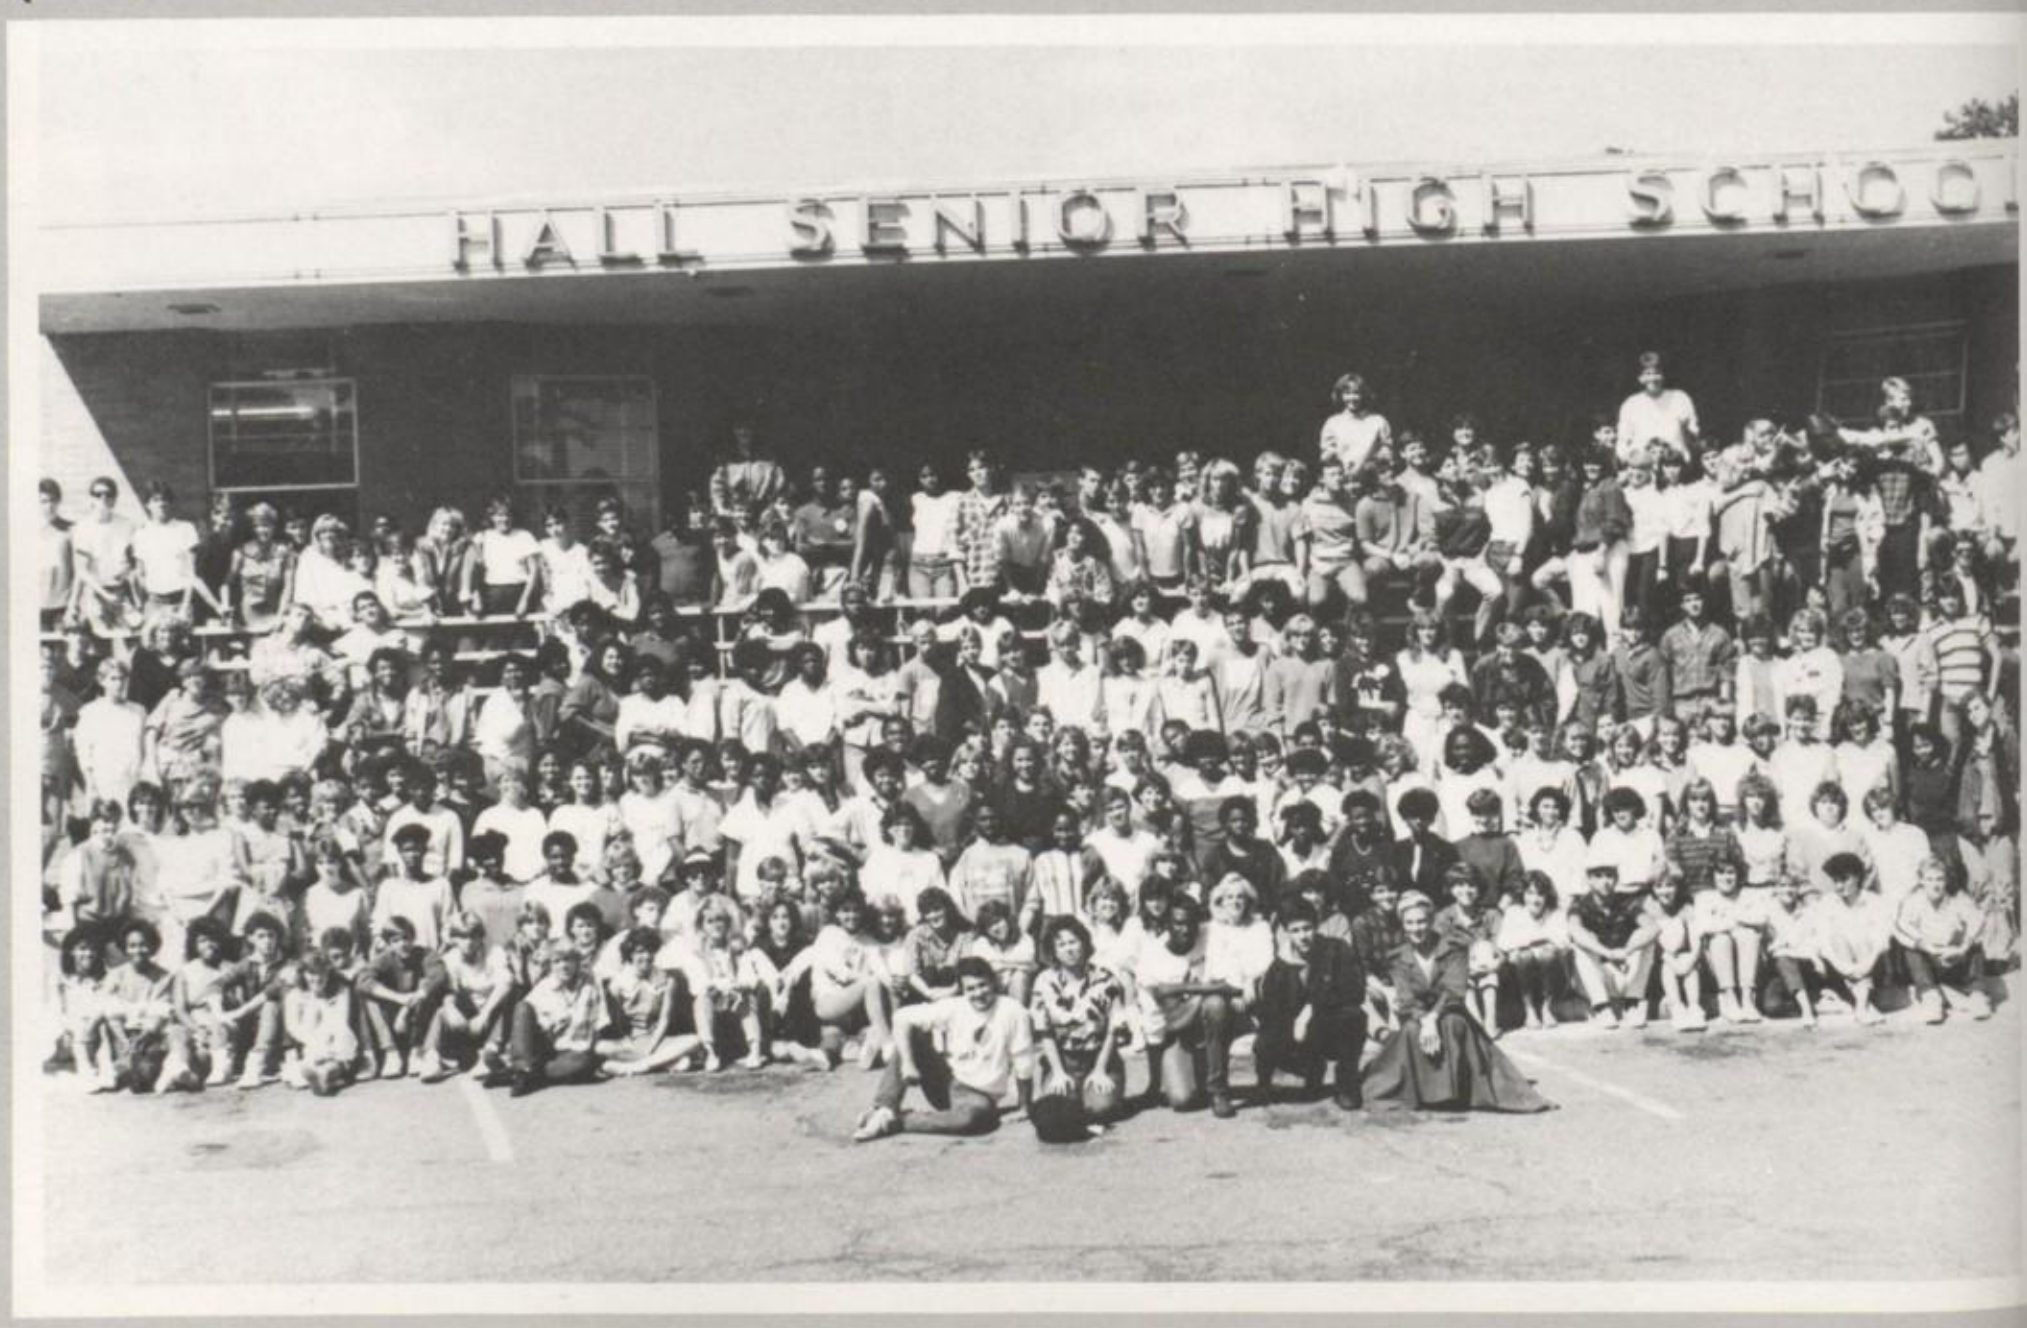
In November, more than 80 pints of blood were donated. Mrs. Gandolphini herself has given 1½ gallons in her ten years of teaching at Hall.

Red Cross also had the third-place float in the Homecoming parade. The club assisted the Spanish Club with its Mexican Quake Fund which gave $400 to help alleviate some of the pain and loss suffered by the Spanish speaking world. The money was taken to a local Red Cross organization and forwarded in some form to the disaster site.



ODYSSEY OF THE MIND

Odyssey of the Mind was one of the clubs here in school this year whose members sought academic challenges outside the classroom. The main inspiration for working hard all year is the national competition held each spring. The two teams this year worked toward different purposes. One constructed a balsa bridge structure and the other group, called Great Art Lives, worked in the areas of drama and art. If a team excels at regionals, it competes again at a state competition and hopefully in the national competition. Being #2 in the world competition in the 1984-85 school year was a tough act to follow. These teams were supported by the rest of the club, who raised funds and maintained moral support for them. The officers of Odyssey of the Mind are Virginia Ralph, senior member; Janie Hesterly, junior member; and Caryn Talburt, treasurer.

Deep in thought, James Keel listens while attending a Spanish meeting.

Spanish Club, with an enrollment of more than 100 students, is one of the largest extracurricular groups at Hall. It provides members with enjoyable and entertaining social activities which enhance the skills and concepts presented in Spanish courses.

At monthly meetings guest speakers, including foreign exchange students from Hispanic countries, share their experiences and prospectives. The club also conducts activities outside school. For example, on December 18 members attended a holiday fiesta which included a piñata and authentic Hispanic foods prepared by members. Spanish Club also engages in fundraising activities. In October members collected donations from Hall High students and staff to assist victims of the Mexican earthquake; the club then contributed $199.40 from its own treasury in order to send a total contribution of $400 through the international Red Cross.

The German Club found itself fairly busy with various activities this year. They attended the annual Oktoberfest in Hot Springs for German dancing, (the Chicken Dance) singing, eating and just plain German fun.

Later into the year the German Club attended a foreign language festival in Fayetteville with hope for success. Needless to say, the results were surprising. During early spring the club planned to have a fund raiser to raise money to go to Emmy's (a German restaurant in Fort Smith).

During the second semester a variety of speakers came to talk about German cultures and events happening in Germany. Many students have taken a strong interest in Germany and its culture. These students planned a trip to Germany. The trip will begin in June and for a month the American students will take in the German culture, make a lot of new friends, learn a lot about another country and a different language. They are sure to have a wonderful time in Germany.

CuisinART float wins first place

ART CLUB

This year the Art Club left its mark on Hall. Members won first place in the Homecoming parade for their CuisinART float which represented a lot of talent and hard work. Members also competed in the state organization's exhibit. Last year Greg Stecks won Best in the State in the Mixed Media category and Hall won best in the show.

The club also painted the Indian in the middle of the gym floor. The Indian was designed by Jennifer Taylor and is a meaningful memorial to Garnett Freeman.

Drafting, Learning Vital Part of Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts Department offers classes in architectural drawing, the drawing of plans for a building mechanical and engineering drawing, and drawing the plans for building a machine. All are taught by Mr. Jim Matthews who also sponsors the Industrial Arts Club.

Mr. David Patterson teaches residential construction exploration, in which the student learns basic carpentry skills in building projects such as a bookcase.

The Industrial Arts Club attended the Industrial Arts Fair. For people who like to work with their hands the Industrial Arts Department, including the club, is the place to be!

This year's Book Swap Club proved to be the organization's best year ever with the help of Mrs. Gail Strange, the club's sponsor.

Being a member of the club was both an educational and interesting experience. During club meetings, members exchange books they have read recently.

Dena Faulkner, club president, stated: "I have enjoyed being a member of the Book Swap Club and I hope the club will continue to grow in coming years. I encourage any student who enjoys reading to join this worthwhile organization."

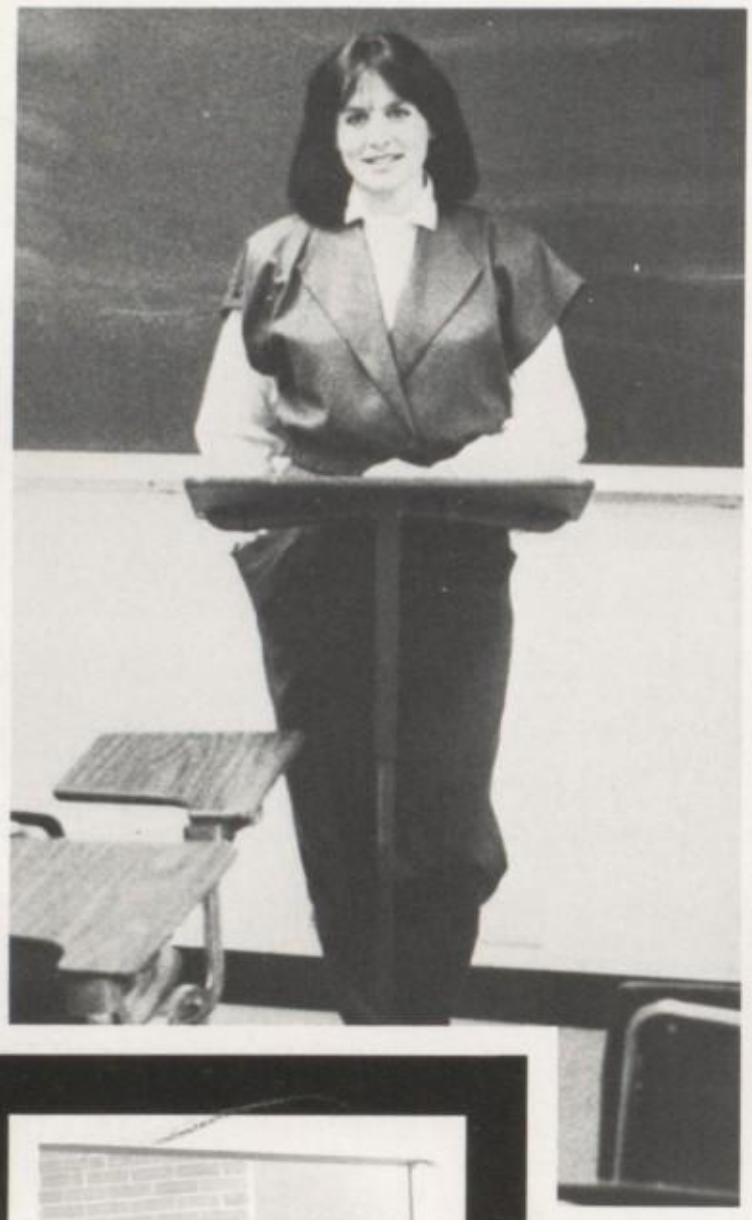
F.H.A.

The majority of all F.H.A. members are in the Home Economics classes. Throughout the year, F.H.A. members were involved in many activities and the most important thing being a big fundraiser for Arkansas Children's Hospital. F.H.A. chapters statewide were asked to raise $150 to help Children's Hospital buy equipment and furnish areas of the hospital. Leftover funds were used for Warrior projects. One of the sponsors, Mrs. Lenora Dyer, stated that "student donations were solicited because of the large student body and because the hospital is one that most Hall students can relate to because of proximity." The total amount collected was $197.24 and F.H.A contributed enough to bring the total drive to $200. Both F.H.A. members and students of the Child Development class participated in the drive. Participating in fund raisers wasn't the clubs only activity. Members also participated in the State F.H.A. meeting which was held at Robinson Auditorium in Little Rock. Along with all the hard work, the club also had parties and other social events. If you were a member of the F.H.A. this year you would know that it was a great year — thanks to the help of the sponsors, Mrs. Lenora Dyer and Mrs. Levada Mason.

Career Explorer Post



The Career Awareness Exploratory is one of several programs of the Boy Scouts of America. It is designed to provide high school students with an insight into a variety of careers to help them and their parents make better informed decisions about the future. Five seminars were scheduled along with other special activities including a "Night on the Town." This gives students first-hand experience and knowledge of work that goes on after hours. Although one of the best things some students think about the organization is getting out of class, students like Abraham Borum III enjoy listening and learning from speakers such as Dr. Nancy Snyderman. 'She was very energetic and persuasive. She told both the advantages and disadvantages of being a doctor."

This is the third year for the Explorer Post at Hall, and members like Abraham say it is a "very important source of information for high school students, and besides being informative it was fun."

This year, four seniors from Hall participated in the Senior High Knowledge Bowl held on November 16. The 1985-86 Warrior team members include Wendy Gauntt, Travis Dooley, Jennifer Straub, and Brooks Coleman. This years team matched wits against other teams from Central and Parkview. Each of the teams received trophies from disc jockey Craig O'Neill of KKYK radio and Lee Gordan. Computer scores were kept by Dr. Larry Coleman, UALR; with judges Herb Yarbrough, School Board president; and Bill Hamilton, School Board vice-president; assisting.

WAR WHOOP

The 1985-86 War Whoop staff was a small, yet hard-working group of students. The work began before the school year started in order to publish the first issue the first week of classes. It didn't slow down much as the months passed.

Producing a high quality school newspaper is much more difficult than it appears. It begins with story assignments. Once stories are written and edited, students typeset the "copy" on the Compugraphics equipment. Students also did the page lay-outs, took and developed their own photographs, and hand-delivered more than 1,000 papers to fellow students — all free of charge. To finance the paper, staff members and journalism students sold hundreds of advertisements.

In December, journalism students and the newspaper staff joined together on a "Candy-Gram" fund-raiser. They sold candy canes decorated with colorful ribbons and a personal message. The money went to pay printing costs and to buy graphic and photographic supplies.

"It wasn't easy, but we worked hard and produced what we considered a good newspaper. Looking back on it all, it was all worth it," said Shae Mitchell, editor-in-chief.

Inkwell - (ingk'wel') n. Hall's literary magazine.

The creative writing class did more this year than just put out the Inkwell. They enjoyed guest speakers that some staff members knew from Governor's School. They did a community service project of making Christmas cards for the Meals on Wheels service for homeridden people. The Inkwell staff's fundraisers were selling spirit stickers and sweatshirts. An involved group, the class also (of course) put a lot of hard work and time into the annual literary magazine. It was a busy year for these writers.

The Memories of '86

Putting the yearbook together was not the easiest thing to do; it was far from it. The staff was comprised of 23 people. These people, although generally inexperienced, were dedicated to making the yearbook a complete success.

With the first day of school, the race was on. It began with the staff members starting from scratch, learning the basics. There were many hours spent after school trying to perfect these skills. Then the dreaded deadlines began. During this time we ate, drank and slept point sizes, layouts and proofreading. With the meeting of one deadline came the anticipation of another. Though stress was high, the optimism and hard work made things fall into place. All the work done by this staff helped to preserve the treasured memories of 1986.

Being a Cheer-o-kee meant having the characteristics of dedication and diligence. Many hours of practice were put into the traditional Cheer-o-kee dances, pom-pon and game routines.

This year there were 57 Cheer-o-kees on the squad. This was the largest number to participate in five years. Another first for this group was having Mrs. Carolyn May, a volunteer, help with many pom-pon routines. The Cheer-o-kees spent six to eight hours a week perfecting each routine. The results were evident at the football and basketball games.

Each and every activity and responsibility of the Cheer-o-kees were major parts of the lives of all 57 girls. They continuously gave outstanding performances to the student body and the Warrior team.

WARRIOR CHEERLEADERS

The Warrior Cheerleaders shake "it" during halftime.

Cheerleading is more than just "leading cheers." The varsity and junior varsity squads put in many hours of practice in the summer and after school. The Warrior fans saw the finished product at pep breakfasts, assemblies and ballgames.

Hard work began before tryouts. Prior to tryouts, everybody worked 10 hours a week learning routines and cheers. When their work paid off (being chosen), the competitive feelings of tryouts turned into friendship and teamwork. The work didn't stop there, however. During the school year, cheerleaders practiced an average of five hours weekly perfecting routines and cheers, preparing for games and various cheerleading competitions. Miss Judy Zink, the sponsor, and all the girls, became a close-knit family.

In spite of all the work, aches, pains, and swollen joints, that Warrior Pride always shined through.

Future Business Leaders of America

The Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) gives students an opportunity to prepare for the real world in business occupations. Members may attend district, state, and regional conferences. FBLA is sponsored by all the business teachers.

FBLA sponsored a canned food drive to provide Thanksgiving baskets for needy students and families in the city. The winning class donated 190 cans from a class of 24. They received a pizza party . . . courtesy of FBLA.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, or VICA club, did its best to live up to its motto. "Preparing for leadership in the world of work." VICA is a club in which students are given the chance to really learn how to be a leader. The students are given a chance to run for local, state, and national offices. Some of the offices are president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, reporter, and Parliamentarian. The Hall VICA chapter attended a Fall leadership conference in November, and won first place in opening and closing ceremonies. They also attended the state skills olympics in hopes of placing, and getting a chance to attend nationals in Arizona. They also had a candy sale and collected toys for children with celebral palsy.

DECA, or the Distributive Education Clubs of America, is a club that all DE students are required to be in. This club gives students a chance to develop their self-confidence and their leadership ability. A group of these students attended a state Career Development Conference where they competed in areas pertaining to their fields. The first place winners in these competitions went to Atlanta in May for national competitions. These students also held an employer-employee banquet in April.

METROPOLITAN

Metropolitan Vocational Technical Skills Center (Metro) allows students to get hands-on training in the fields they are interested in. Some of the classes are Electronics, Auto Shop, Auto Body, Commercial Foods, and Cosmetology. Students attend Metro for three hours a day, earning credit for those hours along with their credits at Hall.

Students from all part of Central Arkansas attend classes at Metro. There are students from Bryant, Little Rock, Paron, Benton, North Little Rock and Pulaski County schools.

Students who attend Metro classes are required to join one of the clubs pertaining to their field. The major clubs are VICA and FBLA.

COE

Cooperative Office Education is a one-year course designed for senior business students. This is a supervised learning experience where advanced business education students attend school in the morning and work in a business office during the afternoon. In the COE related class, various units such as telephone procedures, concepts of word processing, computer literacy and business communication (oral and written) are covered. Students have the opportunity to use their business skills working in positions such as receptionist, mail clerk, data entry clerk, clerk typist, and other entry level business jobs.

Each student in the COE program is a member of the youth organization Future Business Leaders of America. FBLA helps students build leadership skills and the knowledge of how to be a productive part of our free enterprise system.

HOME ECONOMICS

Yes, I know how to boil water!

Jacques and Suzanne's here we come!

The purpose of teaching Home Economics is to help young men and women become better family members — to help them cope with the problems and pressures of everyday living, and to become an asset rather than a liability in their communities. This is done through the teaching of laboratory and non-laboratory classes (as listed below) taught by Mrs. Lenora Dyer and Mrs. L. P. Mason.

BAND

The goal of this year's Hall High School Band was to be the "most spirited organization at Hall," said Mr. Kevin Perry, the band director. Mr. Perry expected his band members to give not only 100%, but 110% consistently. Members practiced two weeks before school started and showed a lot of dedication and hard work throughout the year. They strived to be the best. Members were born musically inclined and learned self-discipline. (Mr. Pery saw to that!) The band was a fun group, especially during the marching season. The band performed at many events throughout the year. On December 19, they put on a Christmas concert. In the fall, they played at the football games and pep assemblies, and performed for American Education Week at the mall. In January they had Region tryouts for which almost the entire band tried out. All-Region chairs tried out for All-State on February 8. The band performed at the Spring Concert on May 15, the Solo and Ensemble festival in April, and will play at baccalaureate and graduation in June. The drum major was Sophia Kimbrough. The captain of the flag corp was Bridgette Donahue and the co-captain was Chrissi Ziegler.

CHOIR

The Hallmark and Madrigal Choirs had among their members some of the best voices around campus, and perhaps around all of Little Rock. The quality of their work came from long hours of hard work and devotion from both the singers and their director, Ms. Tina Stocks.

Some 52 musically-inclined students were in the choir at Hall this year, 16 were Madrigals and 36 were members of the Hallmarks.

The Madrigals specialized in singing music of the Renaissance period, and baroque style, while singing a lot of acapella. They were also featured in a Christmas commercial which aired on Channel 16. The Hallmarks featured mostly spiritual and contemporary music in their performances.

There were many concerts and special events this year. The choir not only sang at Channel 16, but also sang at the State Capitol, and had Christmas and Spring concerts. Even more exciting, members tried out for All-Region and All-State Choirs. Hall students who made All-Region Choir were David Mann, Laura Williams, Wendy Canterbury, and Sherri Lewis. The latter three were eligible to try-out for All-State.

Key to a New Sound

The orchestra doesn't perform during halftime of ballgames, but they proved themselves on several occasions this year including at the 1985 Christmas concert.

Students practiced Monday through Friday preparing for the introduction of their new sound. Like any sport or hobby, playing a string instrument or developing a musical talent takes a lot of practice.

Under first year director Kevin Perry, the orchestra carried on the tradition of excellence and introduced some fine music.

CHRISTMAS at Hall

The Sound of Music at its Best

Ella Dickerson, Sheila Borum, and Alan Ward work extra hard to prepare themselves for their first appearance. Ella Dickerson shows Sheila Borum a specific note as they work extra hard preparing themselves for their first debut at the Hall High Christmas Concert. Alan Ward gets in his extra practice by staying after school practicing alone.

The leader at his best. Director Kevin Perry let the students know that being part of an orchestra is hard work and takes long hours of practice. But the reward it offers is well worth the effort because FAME costs and right here at Hall High School is where you start paying.

Rehearsing for the big event!!▴

The Harlequin Club started off the year with a membership of 150 students. Later Caryn Talburt, Lynn Luplow, and Rachelle Chase were elected president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Club members participated in the Homecoming parade dressed as Hollywood movie stars.

The club met every fourth Tuesday of each month. This year they have started a new tradition of programs of performances by individual club members.

Harlequins also completed their annual Christmas project by donating and wrapping toys for the St. Francis House to be donated to needy families.

The annual play was a "box-office" smash. Everyone seemed to enjoy "Ghosts of the Theatre." The crew members, actors and actresses, and Mrs. Trice worked long and hard to bring us such a wonderful performance of entertainment.

Now get where you belong.▸

"Ghosts of the Theatre" cast included Leigh Boswell, Wendy Canterbury, Paige Davis, Richelle Davis, Angela Gelzine, Joyce Hayes, Janie Hesterly, Patty Ivey, Malone Lankford, Melinda Nelson, Virginia Ralph, Angela Robinson, Tami Strawn, Marina Tampini, Caryn Talburt, Cynthia Winters, Marti Moore, Brian Bell, Ross Dinwiddie, Travis Dooley, Todd Taylor, Damon Mauldin, Mark Hoskyn, Mark Johnson, Andy Newberg, Chris Steele, Blake Barnwell, Amy Miller, Janice Greenfield, Katey Newell, Hallie Shurgar, and Sheila Wold.

COMMUNICATIONS

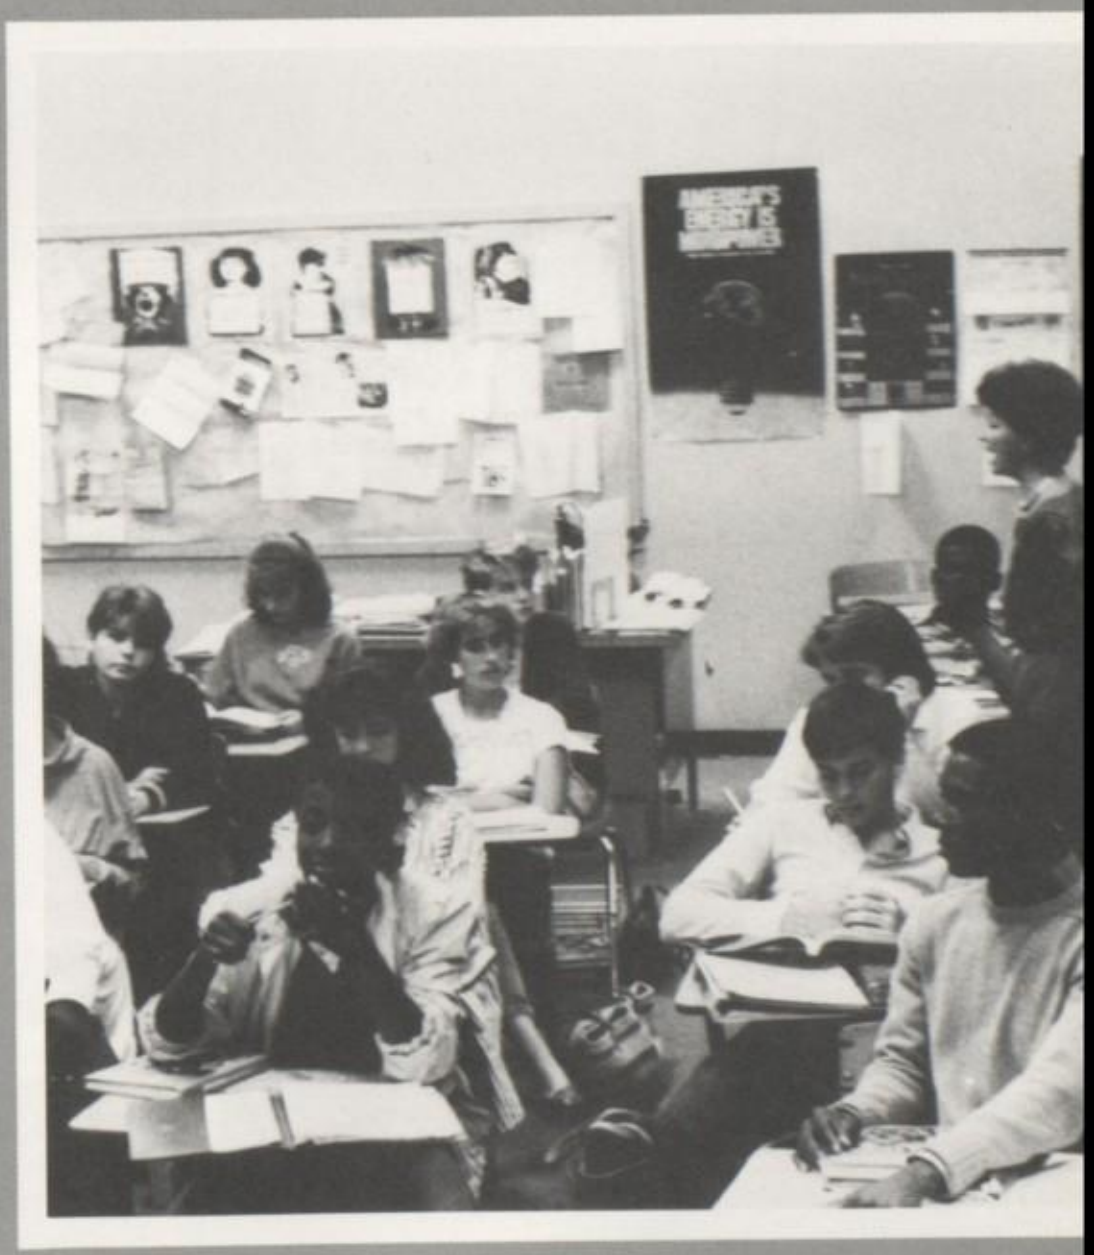
Angela Gelzine appears cool, calm and confident as she reads a script on stage in Mrs. Trice's room. Are looks deceiving, Angela? In communications classes, students are helped to overcome the fear of giving speeches and learn how to cope in other situations which might make them uncomfortable. Remember, speech is a requirement for all college students in order to graduate. (Below) Lee Tranum looks at Chris Brock with disbelief when he asks her what time his mommy should bring him by to pick her up for their date!!!

TALK, TALK, TALK

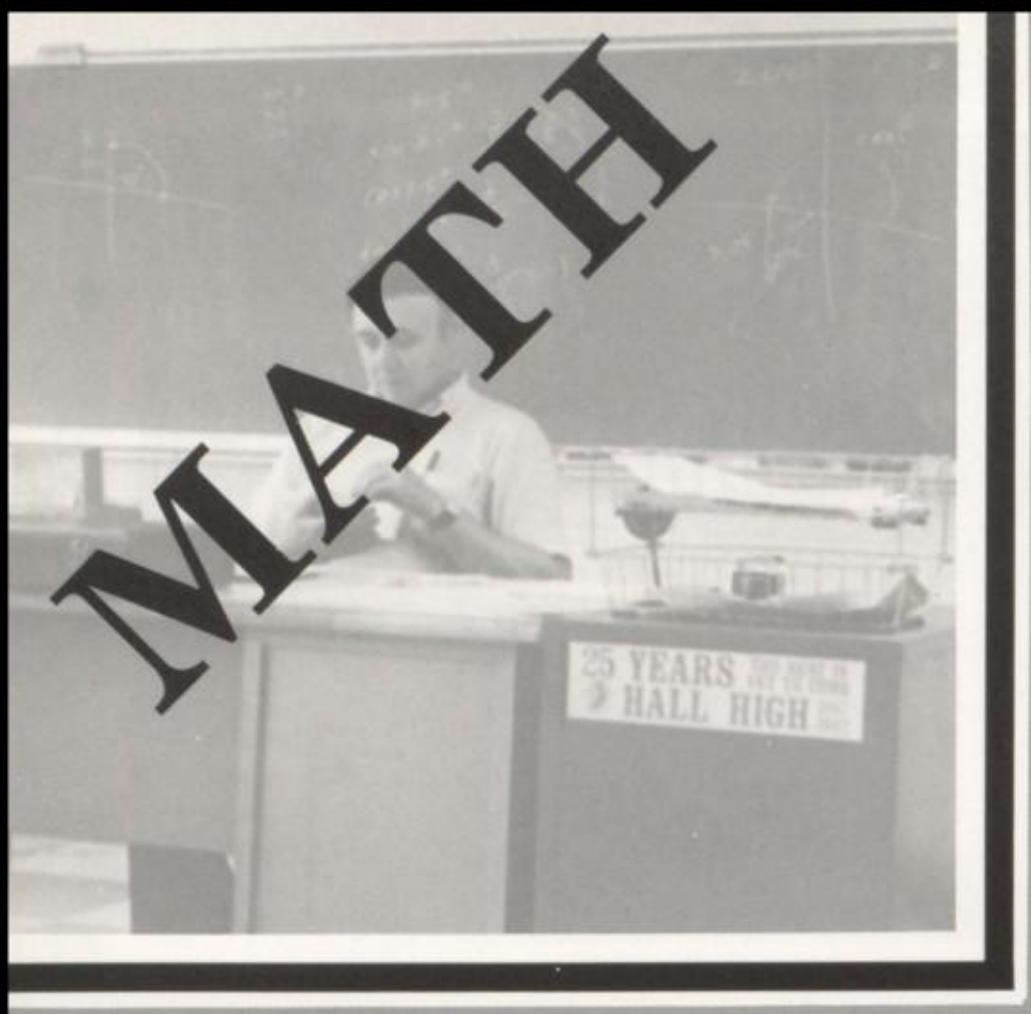
"Communications? I already know how to talk!" The Communications Department at Hall involves a lot more than just talking. Involving both speech and drama, the teachers, Mrs. Cathy Fakouri and Mrs. Judy Trice, focus on technique, performance, and articulation. No "and-uh's" or "it's kinda like, well, like" in these classes! Courses in this department also help people overcome shyness and gain confidence when speaking in front of others.

Poetry, prose, acting, readers' theater, skits - the list of activities involved goes on and on. Students participate in out-of-school tournaments and festivals, Student Congress and do radio spots for KLRE. Besides being courses that are useful, communications courses are a lot of fun!

Mrs. Cathy Fakouri (above) tries to puzzle out a project from one of her students. Mrs. Judy Trice (below), attempts to keep students awake during fifth period.



MATH



Who sleeps during the day in a tux? Below, Dracula visits Mr. Richard Down's room on Pajama Day.

The Math Department is headed by Mr. Michael Norton, a veteran here at Hall High. This department offers a variety of courses. Some students take just enough credits to get by. Other students enjoy math to the utmost and take the full course offerings.

The Math Department was involved in several activities, one of which was an annual High School Mathematics Exam, held in February. Math students also had the opportunity to participate in a Regional Math Contest in April. One such contest was held on campus.

ENGLISH

The English Department, headed by Mrs. Sue Maddison, is more than just conjugating verbs. Being the only class requiring four years credit for graduation, both the students and the teachers insist on variety in the curriculum.

This year, a number of classes went to see the Night of the Iguana production at the Arkansas Repertory Theater. Juniors submitted essays for a contest sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English.

In addition to grammar, both essays and novels are strongly stressed. In the tenth grade, students wrote their first research paper, and read A Separate Peace, and A Doll's House. Juniors studied both The Scarlet Letter and The Crucible, while seniors struggled through such classics as Macbeth and Tess of the D'Urbervilles.

Shannon Powell, Ella Dickerson, Angela Jones and Bonita Ausbie enjoy a little free time at the end of the period.

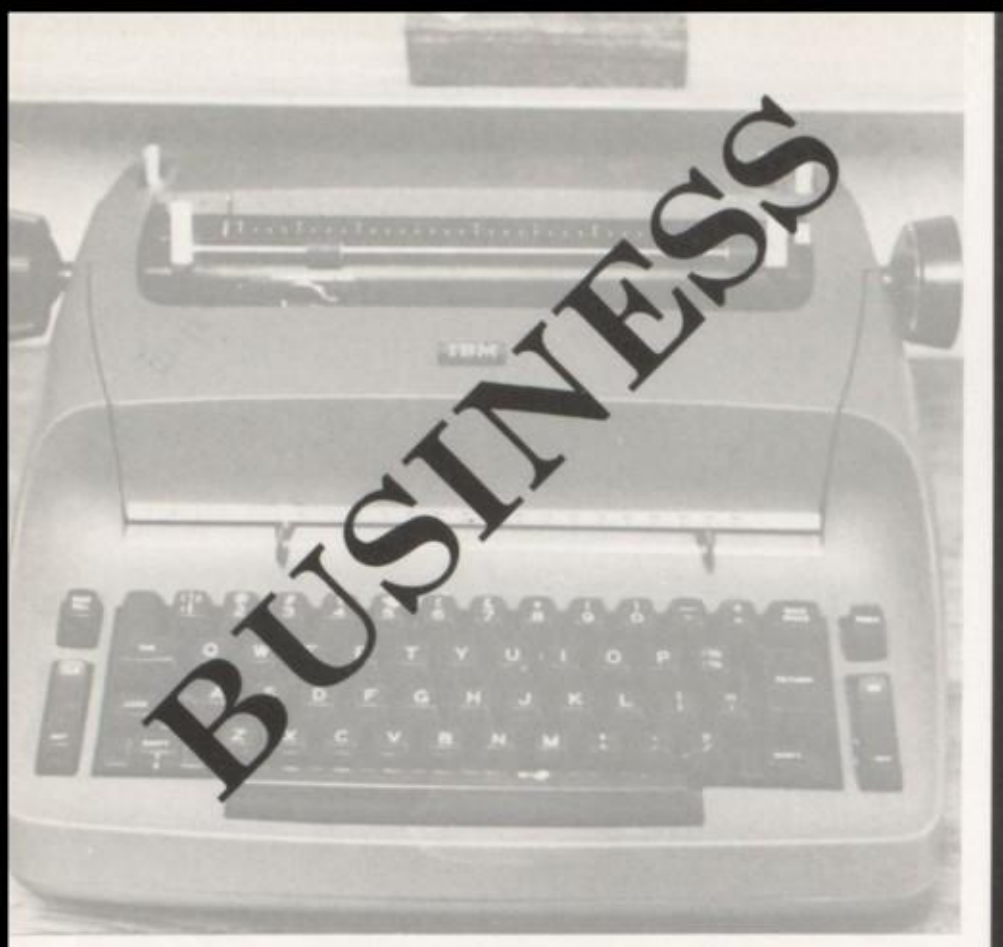
BUSINESS



The Business Department at Hall helped students prepare for the future. There were a number of business courses offered this year including typing, shorthand, accounting, data processing, business machines, and business law. Students learned a variety of skills which will be helpful later in life.

Top right: Mrs. Wondrue Johnson, Mrs. Ann Looney, Mrs. Jane Arthurs, Miss Judy Zink and Coach George Loss. Middle left: Mike Thompson and Bill Bennett try for 50 words per minute. The Science Department, located in the 700's zone, is headed by Mrs. Catherine Hamilton. You know the building, where you see the head of the mink four feet before you see the body! The one you follow the scent of formaldehyde and chemicals to find!

Hall's Science Department has a lot to offer. Students learn to use a microscope and prepare slides for observation. The dissecting techniques they learn are put to use on worms, frogs and fish. Then, if you take a more advanced course, you move up to the mink!!

You learn about elements, study mass, weight, and density through doing experiments. Some classes do project lessons for the fourth and fifth grade students at Pulaski Heights and Williams Magnet Schools.

The Science Department has an in-depth course of studies. Even those students who aren't junior Einsteins can find a course that is both enjoyable and rewarding.

Confused sophomore Betsy McDade tries to decipher some Baugh-ology.

HISTORY

Mrs. Owings looks perturbed as she passes out last weeks tests papers.

Now wait a minute, Hitler's name rings a bell.

But Mrs. Sanders, what do you mean this is a dictatorship?!

WOW! I didn't know Napolean was French?!

The History Department had many areas of study to choose from. Hall offered courses such as International Relations, World and. U.S. History, American Government, World Geography and Economics.

Speakers from foreign countries were invited to visit classes this year. Such guests enhanced students' understanding of what goes on in different parts of the world, including here in the U.S.A.

Students had an opportunity to participate in the Closeup program, which is a study trip to Washington, D.C. Ms. Kitty Sanders, chairperson of the department, chaperoned students on the trip.

In Washington, students took an inside look at how each governmental body operates while in session. This year the trip was in February.

Gee, Queen Elizabeth sounds extravagant!

Government students get down to business during first period.

LANGUAGES

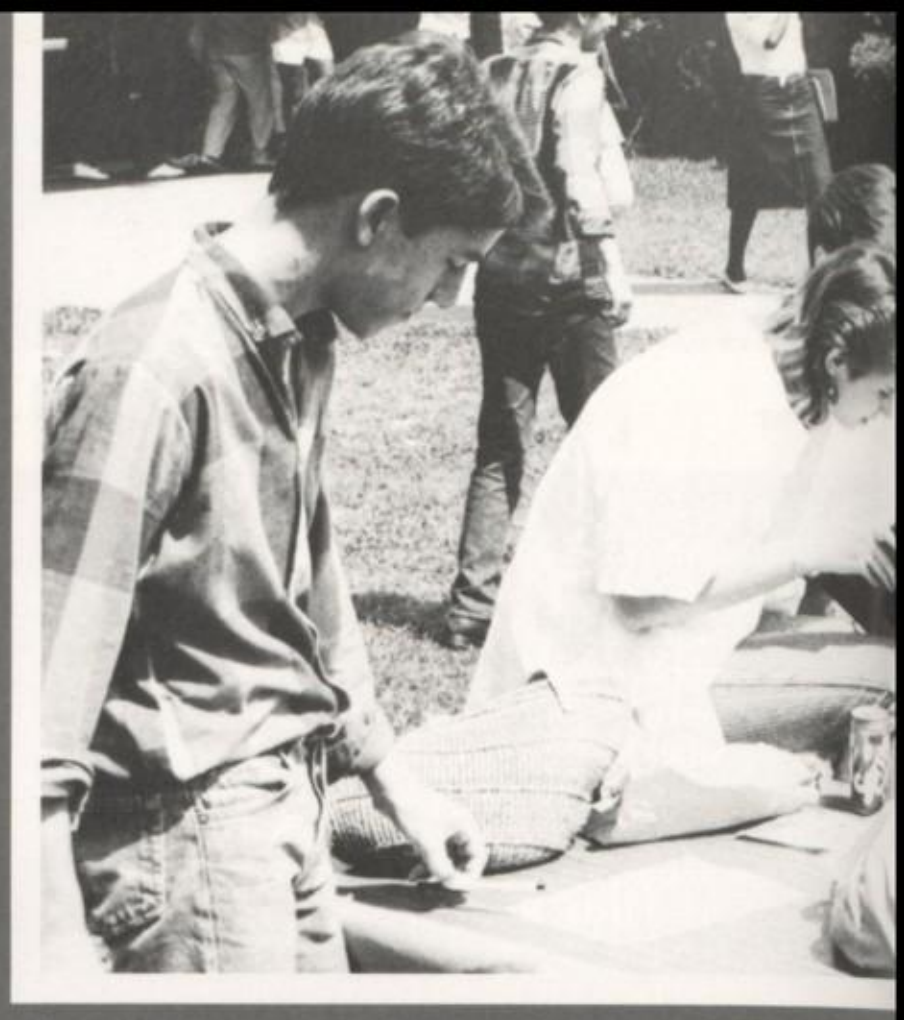
FOREIGN FUN

While some students struggled to just get through English, many other students set out to conquer a new language. Students chose between French, German, Latin, and Spanish and participation in all four was large. This year was the first year we had a Latin Club (who was the sponsor?) which whole-heartedly made its presence known. Language students participated in language contests both in Little Rock and out, such as in Fayetteville. Hall students made a good showing (as always), had a lot of fun, and also did themselves a big favor as most colleges now require at least two years of a foreign language. Foreign language - a department to enjoy and to benefit from.

Janet Myers and Blair Beavers show how to play with dolls in French class. Martha Herndon (above) looks puzzled as she tries to figure out the phrase "It's Latin to me."



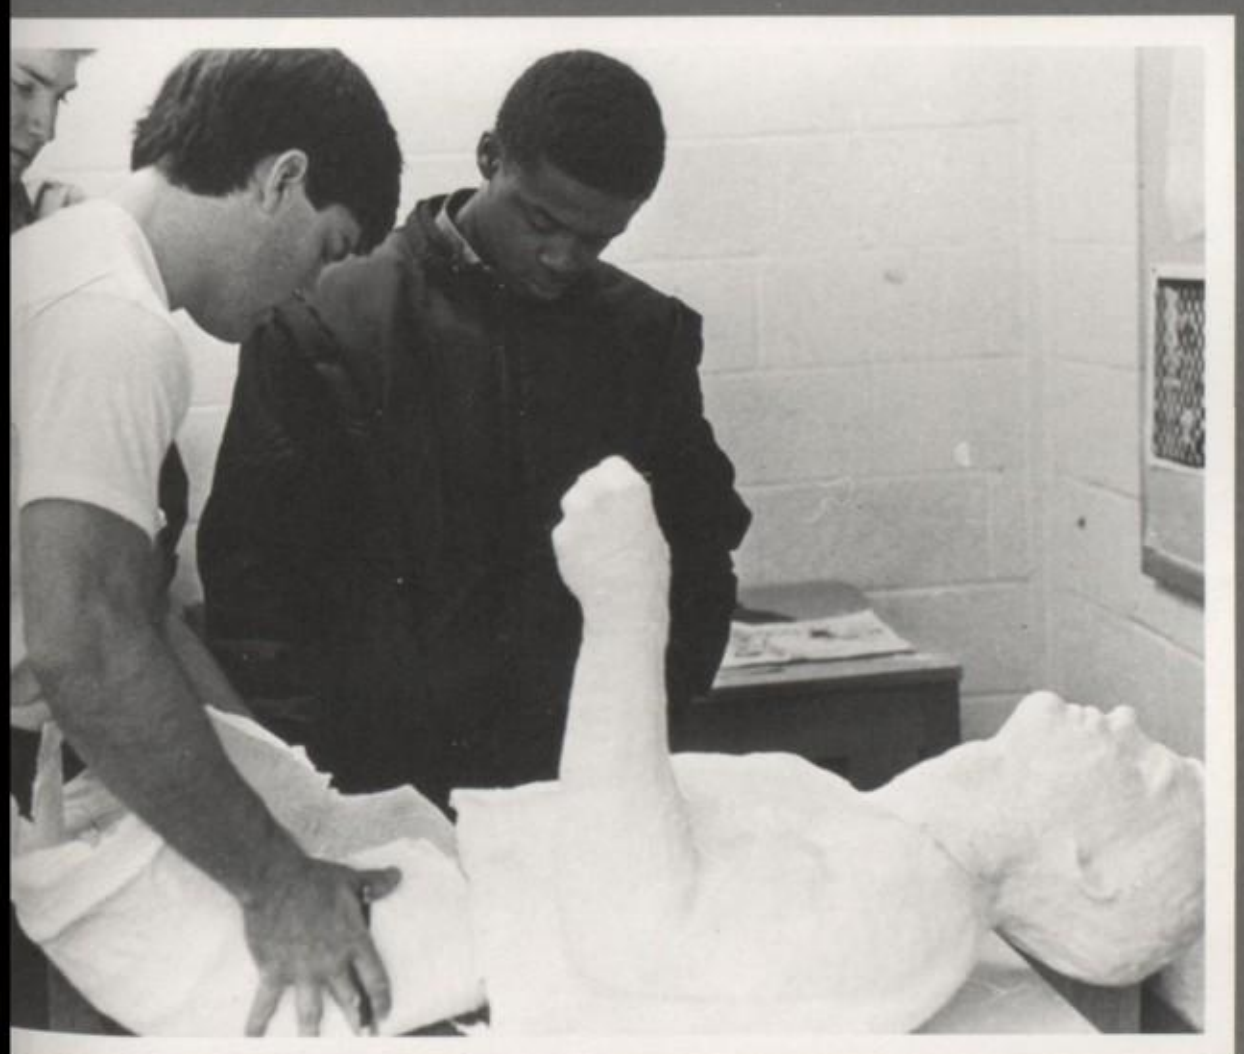
Todd Taylor (top right), treasurer of the Art Club, checks on Kristy Atkinson and Stephanie Watson to make sure things are going by the book.

Greg Stecks and Jennifer Taylor (above) work hard on Saturday to complete the mural on the gym wall. Dedication . . .

The Art Department has two major exhibits a year at school, one before Christmas and one at the end of the year. The year's best work is shown at the Little Rock Public School Administration Building. Last year, Hall's artwork won more blue ribbons in more categories than any other school in the district.

One special project the Art Department did this year was a mural on the gym wall. The mural was completed with a lot of hard work and extra time put in by David and Doug McNeil, Greg Stecks, Susanna McSpadden, Lee Weatherly, Jed Darr, and designer, Jennifer Taylor.

Sponsored by DR. AND MRS. STEVE GOLLADAY



Stroke! Stroke! David McNeil (above) shows his skill as he works on the mural in the gym. Seniors Doug, Greg and Keith (left) . . . Friends don't let friends drive drunk. Mrs. Sarah Miller (below) poses for a still life for her students.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

THE FITNESS FAD

This has been a year of big changes in the Physical Education Department. With Coach C. W. Keopple's move to Fayetteville and Coach Michael Peterson's move to history, the staff was cut in half. Coach Oliver Elders and Mrs. Caroline Slater put a lot of time and energy into having a well-balanced and enjoyable physical education curriculum. However, Coach Elders felt there were some big problems. For the class of 1988, only one credit of physical education is required for graduation. Is this the end of high school P.E.? Some wonder.

At the first of the year a physical fitness test was given to determine students' individual fitness levels. During the year archery, volleyball, folk and square dance, gymnastics, aerobics, golf, basketball and other activities were all offered. At the end of the year another fitness test was administered to note progress.

Coach Elders said he feels the students are getting their individual right to be healthy taken away. He feels that P.E. offers an outlet for lack of structured leisure time. Consider this: You can spend all your time making money. Yet look at all the peole spending their life savings trying to get their health back.

Even though the staff size has been cut in half, the number of students in a class hasn't changed. The Physical Education Department asks the students to take a better look at the well-rounded group of activities and benefits this department can offer you.

Some students (right) express some heavy enthusiasm over their activities.

PEOPLE

The enrollment at Hall High School this year climbed by 3.7 percent. Thirty students transferred here from private schools while 16 new students came from out-of-state schools.

The sophomore class was made up of 369 "slops." For many, being in high school was a brand new experience. Besides staying busy buying elevator passes and swimming pool tickets, they also had to learn the fine art of opening their lockers. Classes such as biology, geometry and gym were swamped with slops. Turning 16 and finally getting to drive was a highlight in their year.

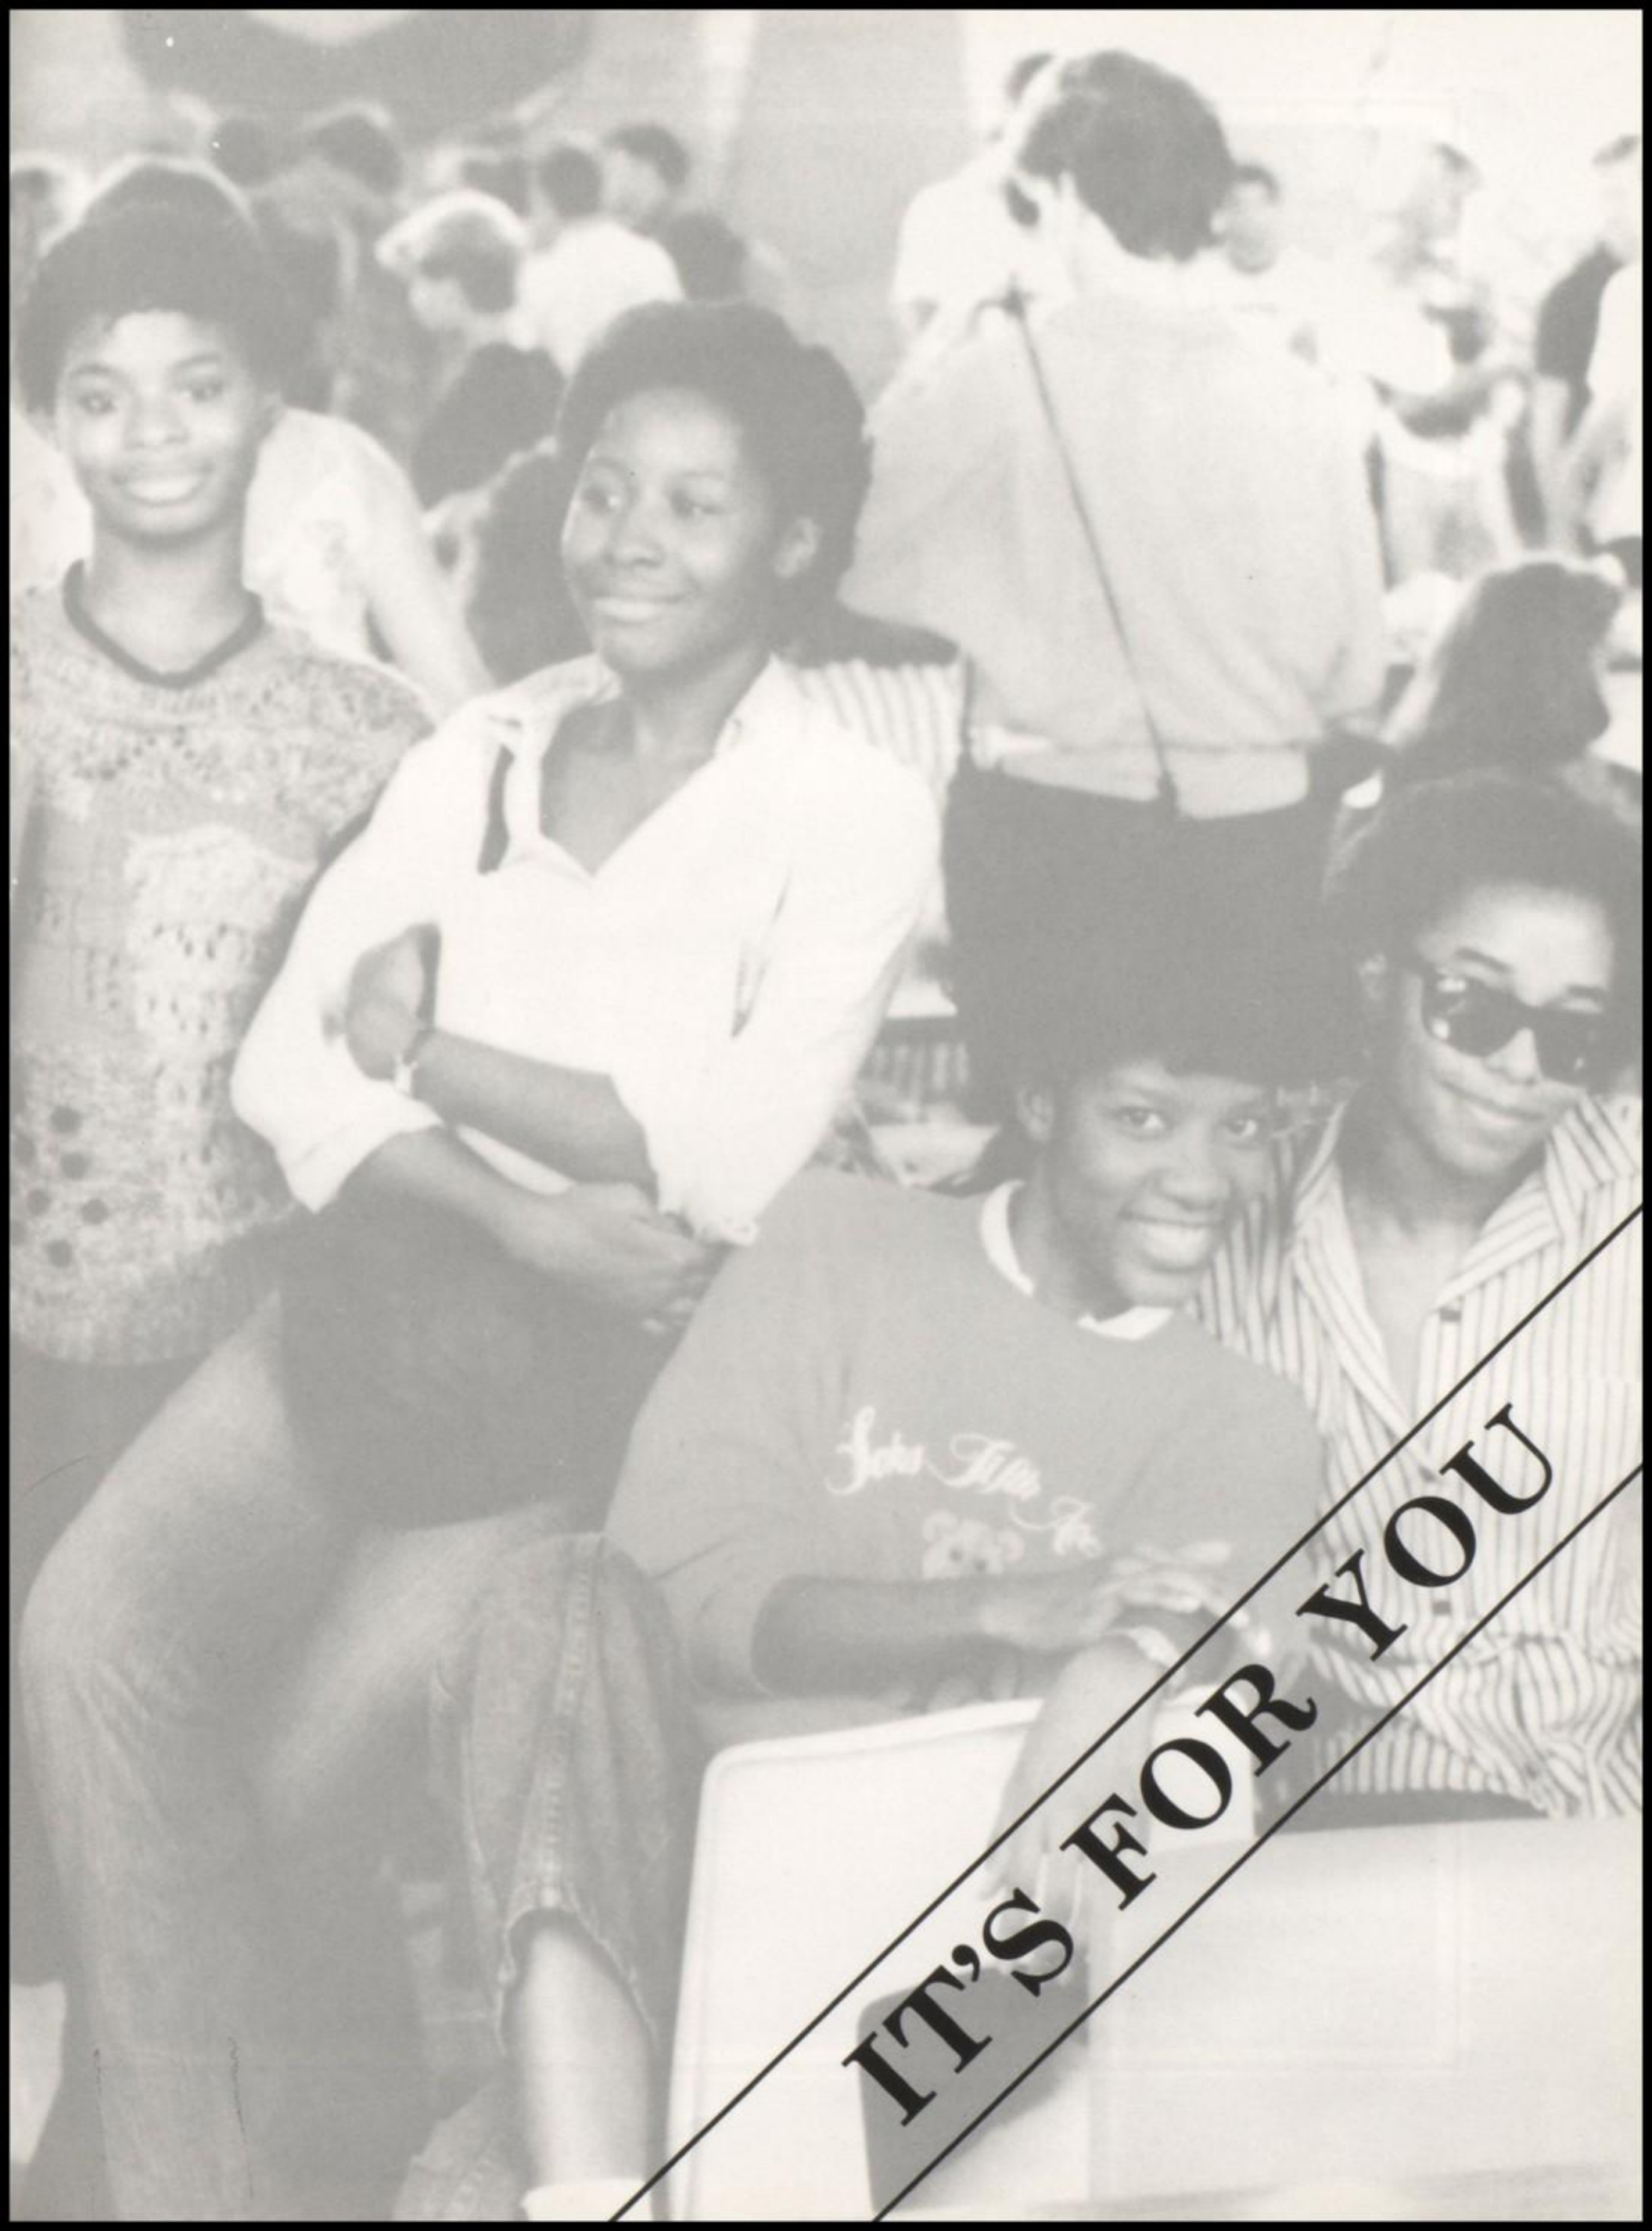
Hall's slops entered with a "bang" and found that there is more to life than watching T.V. on Friday nights.

The junior class had 292 students. They had a year of difficult classes. Throughout the year they looked at colleges and took a variety of entrance exams. The junior class was alive with spirit — and most students were ready to be SENIORS.

The SENIOR CLASS consisted of 322 students. The only way to describe them was "dynamic!" Being the school's upperclassmen, seniors were the leaders in most clubs and activities.

Between going to classes and applying to colleges, they were busy with senior activities such as the Prom, Graduation, dances, parties, meetings and studying. They were the "top" at Hall, and they were what everyone wanted to be.

All the classes and all the PEOPLE together made for an outstanding student body. It was a truly AWESOME year.



IT'S FOR YOU

This Year Is For Us . . .

As SENIORS we lived and learned. We set examples of leadership to our student body. We had fears, expectations and major decisions to make, but we overcame them all. The memories of high school will be savored; classes, dances, games; our victories and our losses. Remembered will be Homecoming, the Prom and Graduation.

Some friendships will remain steadfast . . . and some will fade, but the memories of being a part of the 86 SENIOR Class will be present in our hearts forever.

Scott Dinwiddie, Warrior Superstar, has played football since he was eight years old. He is considered an outstanding athlete here at Hall. Starting on the varsity team as a junior, Scott says that although the pressures of football are hard to handle, they are worth it.

He is interested in pursuing football at a collegiate level and has heard from many colleges concerning his athletic ability.

Scott has enjoyed playing for the Warriors and hopes that he has shown leadership for the underclassmen.

Judy Haut has been dancing for nine years. She belongs to the Ballet Arkansas Company and has performed in such ballets as Swan Lake, Cappellia, and the Nutcracker.

This year has been most competitive for Judy. She spends her time practicing ballet, doing her homework, and she still manages to lead a normal social life.

Judy does not plan to major in dance although she is looking for a college with a strong dance program.

Juniors . . . Almost There.

Juniors are finally on their way to the top. They overcame all the name calling for being sophomores and now they're going to be the senior class of 1987.

The junior class, this year, did what was expected of them. They got involved, participated and had a lot of fun, while looking forward to the big year to come.

It is now time for the junior class to move up after sharing experiences in their sophomore and junior years. They worked together and will continue to reach their goals.

Sophomores

Just Beginning

A Sophomore Is . . .

The sophomore class (seniors class of 1988) made many accomplishments throughout the year.

Being at a new school had many ups and downs. The classes were harder and the students' responsibilities increased, but the added freedom made high school life much easier to handle.

Sophomores naturally wanted to become involved in school organizations as soon as possible. The hard part comes with balancing school time and leisurely activities, but we survived!

Sophomore Laura Williamson was Hall's winner of the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Award, an award many sophomores tried for. Richelle Davis, another sophomore, served her classmates as sophomore representative on the Student Council. She was the student chairman of the school Talent Show, and was a member of the council's dance committee.

Papooses on the Loose

The largest group of children ever to attend the kindergarten at Hall were here during the 1985-1986 year. Twenty-five little Warriors roamed throughout the school catching everyone's eye, and sometimes performing at pep rallies. Teachers in the 200 zone occasionally had to shut their doors to regain their pupils' attention from the line of grinning faces and waving hands. Mrs. Virginia Minor, kindergarten teacher and chief of this tribe for 15 years, had help from Hall High students in teaching basic skills.

The youngsters of the Hall High tribe do such work as learning phonics and basic mathematics. They also have time to play such games as musical chairs, do cutting and pasting, and freeze-tag.

Friends

Times spent together,
cars we use.
All the money we spend,
The clothes we choose.
Weekend night movies,
Walking in the park,
Telling our fears,
Scared of the dark.
Money to lend,
The stuff we buy.
Our "private" talks,
About all the guys.
The fun we've had,
May it never end.
We want it to last.
And always be friends!

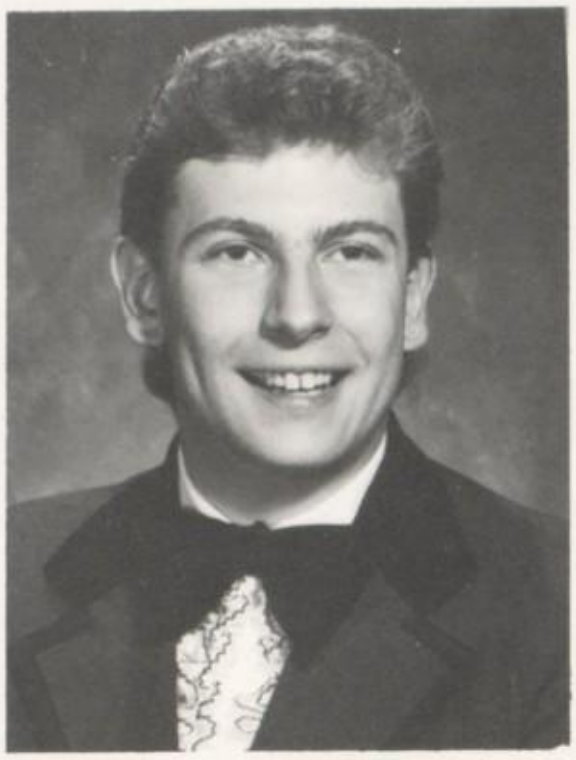
We love you!

Thanks for being you (Guess who?)



CONGRATULATIONS ROBERT!

To the reader,

Though at times many people, including ourselves, believed that we could not do it, the product of all our hard work, determination, and patience is finally here. We entered into the Hall High yearbook room at the beginning of this year, staff and advisor alike, not knowing the first thing about how to publish our book. We have learned lot about ourselves and each other, and about how to pool our resources and work up to our highest potential. These things we could only learn through experiences, not a text book. I must thank the Warrior yearbook staff for putting up with all my "notes on the board," and for hanging in there when you felt like giving up. Your dedication to making this book the best it can be really shows. Thank you Mr. Barnhouse for believing in us every step of the way. And a very special thanks goes to Mrs. Cherry. She was our backbone and went beyond the call of duty to help us in any way she could. I must also thank my mom for helping me get through every crisis, and my dad for being my best critic. Thank you to my friends for your non-faltering support and to Keith for just being there to listen. This book is for you, the students, we only hope that it will be as special to you as it is to those of us who put it all together. The theme of the book says it all, "THIS YEAR'S FOR YOU!"

Jennifer Caplinger
1986 WARRIOR EDITOR

The 1986 Warrior was published by Walsworth Publishing Company. Mr. Tom Walker was the firm's representative. Century Bold was used as the type face for the book. THIS YEAR'S FOR YOU was selected as the theme.

THIS YEAR WE FOLLOWED

This year there were leaders and followers. Everyday in class students were led by a wide variety of teachers who were here to challenge and enrich our minds. The administration was always here overseeing school and reminding students to "get to class" and out of the corridors.

Student leaders came in all shapes and sizes. From Student Council officers to football captains, students took on the responsibility of being school leaders in a big way. Without the leadership of our administration, teachers, and students — all working together — we wouldn't have had such an outstanding homecoming, assemblies, dances, clubs, and (of course) classes. We couldn't have been such a winning tribe without all the chiefs.

THIS YEAR WE DISCOVERED

Where is a better place to discover than at school? Hall High students discovered much more than what was offered academically. In addition to "book learning," students discovered themselves — having the security and courage to step out as individuals. They discovered their own potential and how they could reach it.

Students discovered growing up and what being an adult means. For the sophomores, it meant turning sixteen and beginning to drive. Juniors had more advanced classes and some began to consider colleges. Seniors were faced with making major decisions that would affect the rest of their lives.

Together, we discovered that a long with the good, the bad must also come. We realized that anything worth having was worth working for. We discovered we were part of the best group around. We were the WARRIORS.

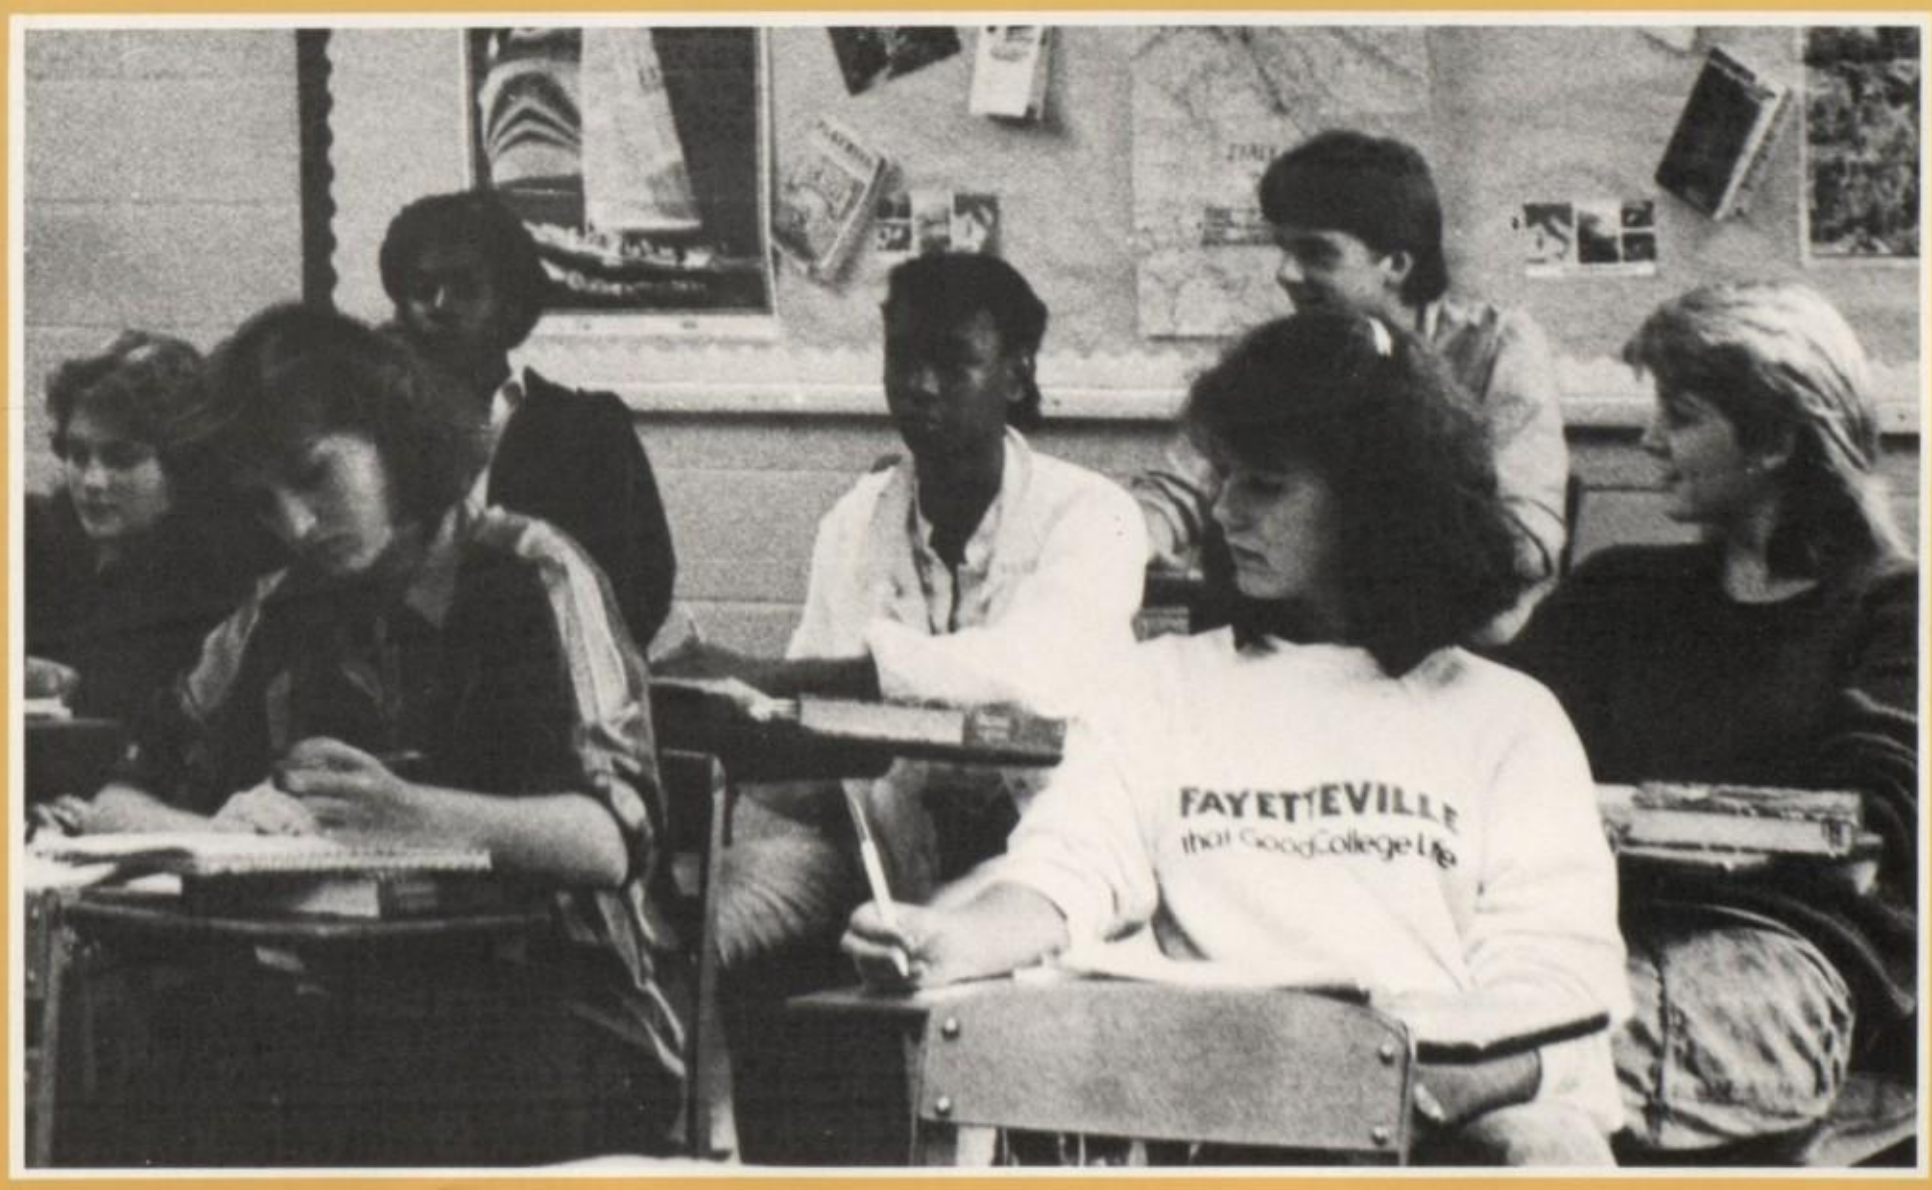
THIS YEAR WE REMEMBER

For some of us it was our first year at Hall, but for others it was the last. There were times that we lived, ways that we grew, things we prepared for, and many days we rejoiced. There were people we followed and things we discovered. We all formed ties that would last a lifetime. This year we worked our way through classes, rejoiced during our victories, and crying over our losses. For sophomores and juniors it was time to start planning for next year at Hall. For seniors it meant taking a look ahead and beginning to plan for the rest of their lives. Whether it was dances, classes, tests, games, or homework, we will always remember our high school days. Students are always told that the high school years are the best of your lives. It's true. They were here at Hall High.



FAYETTEVILLE

"The sacrifice of your loved ones has stirred the soul of our nation and, through the pain, our hearts have been opened to a profound truth: the future is not free, the story of all human progress is one of a struggle against all odds. We learned again that this America, which Abraham Lincoln called the last best hope of man on earth, was built on heroism and noble sacrifice. It was built by men and women like our seven star voyagers, who answered a call beyond duty, who gave more than was expected or required, and who gave it with little thought to worldly reward . . .

Dick, Mike, Judy, El, Ron, Greg and Christa, your families and your country mourn your passing. We bid you goodbye. We will never forget you. For those who knew you well and loved you, the pain will be deep and enduring. The nation, too, will long feel the loss of her seven sons and daughters, her seven good friends. We can find consolation only in faith, for we know in our hearts that you who flew so high and so proud now make your home beyond the stars, safe in God's promise of eternal life."

President RONALD REAGAN, in his eulogy for the Challenger astronauts at the Johnson Space Center in Houston

In memory of Christa McAuliffe and the entire Challenger space mission
